Self-unloading barge, Straits Conveyor, "unloaded" too quickly yesterday when it rolled over without warning while being loaded at Chemainus and dumped 3,500 tons of coal slag in harbor. Huge wave set up wrecked floats and small craft moored in bay. Huge barge is 250 by 60 feet.

Boats Dashed Like Toys

Winch was flicked into the sea like a toy and thick cables snapped as big barge turned turtle. Tom Twentyman of Chemainus, examining boat smashed against float piling by 12-foot wave set up when barge capsized, jumped for safety earlier as broken cable whiplashed.

Nearly a score of small craft were wrecked or sunk by big wave caused when barge contents plunged into harbor. Straits Towing Co. officials

B.C. Jail Costs Soar by Millions

NANAIMO — Attorney General Robert Bonner said that the number of persons sent to jail in B.C. in the past seven years has increased from 6,000 in 1953 to 16,900 in 1958.

Mr. Bonner told a B.C. Law Society and Canadian Bar Association convention that government expenditures in the field of law enforcement and corrections is also on the increase. (See other Law Society stories on Page 19.)

The amount spent in the province in the field of corrections amounted to $4,871,000 last year compared to $1,286,000 in 1953. General law enforcement cost the province

$1,600,000 last year compared to $850,000 in 1953; $1,097,000 was spent on juvenile correction last year. In 1953 $357,000 was spent.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. leads the rest of Canada in the field of corrections and now is the time for an uncritical approach to new lines of thought in crime and punishment.

Satellite Fails To Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Discoverer IV, "lifeless" satellite the U.S. intended to recover from outer space, failed to achieve an orbit last night, the air force announced.

Although the launching of the seven-story high rocket appeared completely successful, the air force announced it presumably burned up upon re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

The capsule of the "lifeless" Discoverer satellite carried no tiny passengers, as did the equally ill-fated Discoverer III.

Fake Bills Seized By Police

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said two men were arrested Thursday following seizure of 130 fake $10 bills in two raids in the Vancouver area.

Officers said the bills are of the same type as those passed in several cities in Eastern Canada six months ago. They said several have been passed recently in Vancouver stores.

The bills were described as paler than the genuine variety and having a slightly blurred portrait of the Queen.

U.S. Wants More Sites In Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the United States are negotiating toward an agreement on use of Canadian prairie bases by American fighter squadrons, it was learned Thursday.

The U.S. wants to establish maintenance facilities at the Canadian airfields so that U.S. Air Force squadrons can operate from them for temporary periods.

Refuelling facilities for American fighter aircraft are already available at Canadian bases and have been used from time to time by U.S. squadrons for brief periods. But a supply of spare parts is required for the planes to operate from these bases for any length of time.

The RCAF has nine CF-100 jet interceptor squadrons in Canada but none is based on the Prairies.

'Lifting Lady Loaded

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police said Thursday a woman suspected of stealing $1 from a downtown department store had $14,720 in cash and bonds in her purse.

They said the loot from the store, valued at less than $1, included a tin of salmon, fresh tomatoes, a packet of crumpets and a head of lettuce.

The $14,720 included seven $100 Canada Savings bonds.

MONTREAL (CP) — The city's glittering ball for the Queen ended in a rubber-necking crush Thursday night with the royal couple withdrawing behind a moving wedge of Mounties.

The 1,900 guests crowded onto the floor and all tried to converge to the part of the big Queen Elizabeth ballroom where the Queen and Prince Philip had started to enjoy themselves dancing to a collection of French and American popular music.

The evening started sedately enough at a well-appointed dinner with the Queen looking especially regal.

When the dancing started it also went sedately for the first dance.

Then the second period of dancing started with the tall prince leading off with the Queen. The Mounties with-

Twelve Stretches Already Posted

Establishment of a 60-mile-an-hour speed limit on all major B.C. highways is nearly an accomplished fact, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said yesterday.

"The highways are built for 60 miles an hour and where it is safe to drive at that speed we are posting them," he said.

NEW ZONES

Twelve new speed highway zones were established this week. And new speed limit signs have been posted.

Among them on Vancouver Island are the Island Highway from Tunnel Hill on the Malahat to Parksville and the Patricia Bay Highway from Keating Cross Road to the airport. The road to Port Alberni between Coombs and Whisky Creek was established as a speed highway in April, along with two mainland stretches.

MAXIMUM SPEED

But, Mr. Gagliardi pointed out, the 60 miles an hour is not necessarily the speed to travel on these stretches but rather the maximum speed one can drive.

"We want to get away from the feeling we have to drive fast," he warned.

Premier Bennett said he was in favor of the speed highways.

"If traffic moves at a speed, right for a certain highway, that is the safest traffic," Mr. Bennett said. "It is the person who drives slowly who creates the traffic hazard."

FUTURE POLICY

He said that except for populated areas it will be government policy from now on to create 60 mile an hour zones as soon as the highways are in shape.

Highways department spokesman said that all new highways are designed for 60 miles an hour from an engineering point of view.

Long Giving Up 'Jealous' Wife

COVINGTON, La. (UPI) — Gov. Earl Long's attorneys yesterday filed separation papers against his wife, Mrs. Blanche Revere Long, who signed papers committing him to a mental institution.

The papers asked that an attorney be appointed to represent Mrs. Long, who has fled the state.

The papers charged that Mrs. Long committed excesses, cruel treatment and outrages against the Louisiana governor "of such nature as to render their further living together insupportable."

Gov. Long has subpoenaed a "jury of doctors" from all over Louisiana to testify on his sanity at a hearing today.

Long intimated through his lawyer that if he does go free, his "jealous" wife Blanche won't be the only person to flee the state.

ALPENA, Mich. (CP) — The Canadian freighter Royalton, loaded with wheat, and the Liberian freighter Monrovia collided in heavy fog off Thunder Bay Island in northern Lake Huron Thursday afternoon.

The Monrovia had her water line ripped open in the collision and sank some hours later. No lives were lost. The Royalton suffered only slight damage.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

HUNDREDS of pictures of the Royal Family over the last century are on view at the Hudson's Bay Co. Victoria store this week, under sponsorship of Victoria Retarded Children's Association.

The pictures include everything from photo cards to oil paintings. They're part of the collection assembled over the years by the New family. Miss Ida New of Vancouver is here to explain them.

Here's a prediction: I'll bet the display draws bigger crowds than any real art collection. That's either a heartening sign of our loyalty or an indication of our dismal lack of appreciation for the arts, depending upon your viewpoint.

Maybe it's both.

Two-week show of paintings by Victoria artist Phyllis Leece opens June 29 at Eaton's. Part of the display will be in a View Street window, part upstairs.

One of the paintings is a study of the little building where Alice Carr, sister of painter Emily Carr, taught kindergarten for 20 years. It stands behind a house on St. Andrew's Street, where Emily Carr had a studio in her later years.

The studio is now used by painter Margaret Peterson, who took it over from Jan Zach.

"Do you ever feel Emily Carr guiding your hand?" I asked.

"Sometimes I imagine she's here," Margaret Peterson replied.

Among the Eaton's employees who help set up Mrs. Phyllis Leece's pictures will probably be Hannele Siebner, the attractive wife of nationally-known Victoria painter Herbert Siebner.

Mrs. Leece was once a pupil of Siebner's.

"Can you think for yourself?" enquires S. A. Whitfield, Strandlund Avenue, R.R. 6, Victoria.

"I'm serious! At schools we learned things from textbooks, authoritarian, from scholars and learned men."

"So what can you do with the comparatively simple problem of mathematics as posed by those population figures as given by Huxley?"

"An estimated 1,000,000 people roamed this earth about 12,000 years ago. Today, an estimated 2,800,000,000."

"Question: How long did it take to procure that first 1,000,000?"

Mr. Whitfield does not think that the theory of evolution can show how or where the first 1,000,000 arrived. He believes that Darwin was wrong.

"Cancer has been stated by the American Research Association to be found to occur in 'fretters and worriers,' writes Dr. Marian Sherman, 2901 Seaview Road.

"It is my belief that the primary cause is not liking one's fellow-humans. As we build mental (social) health — harmonious relationships — we shall overcome mental illness and almost all physical illness."

On the other hand, someone else has sent me a pamphlet attempting to prove that the mental health movement, led by such figures as Dr. Brock Chisholm, is a Communist plot. Take your choice.

Entry to U.S. Halted By 'Illiterate Ass'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons heard a tale yesterday about an "illiterate ass" who prevented entry of a Canadian to the United States because the Canadian once attended a big Communist political rally.

H. W. Herdridge (CCF-Kootenay West) used that description for the U.S. immigration officer who, he said, gave the Canadian that reason for refusing him entry to the U.S.

Out of curiosity thousands had attended the 1942 rally in question to hear a speech by Tim Buck, leader of the Canadian Communist party, but that hardly seemed a sound reason for refusing a person entry to the U.S., he said.

COVINGTON, Ky. — Harold Wayne Rouse, 19, has been charged with brutally assaulting Debbie Faye Mize, 15 months, illegitimate child of his 17-year-old wife. He told police: "I picked her up by the heels and banged her against a door."

SAINT TROPEZ, France — Brigitte Bardot's husband, Jacques Charrier, joined his wife-of-a-week in denying that Brigitte is expecting a baby.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Mrs. Helen Babin Bartlett, a grandmother, was charged with drowning her second husband in a bathtub so she could collect $30,000 to $60,000 in insurance. Police became suspicious when she took out big insurance policies on her third husband.

WALSALL, England — Farmer Buchanan Pool was fined $56 after the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals complained in court that he underfed five pigs.

TAMPA, Fla. — A young housewife told police she fatally shot her husband while sleeping. Mrs. Lucille Barnett, 32, said she awoke to find herself standing with a smoking gun over the mortally-wounded body of her husband, William, 29.

LINCOLN, Neb. — Charles Starkweather, 20, executed for killing 11 people, refused to leave his eyes to charity because "No one ever did anything for me, why should I do anything for anybody else?"

CALGARY — Julie Akerman, 21-year-old daughter of Mayor Chris Akerman of suburban Forest Lawn, has been named queen of Calgary Stampede and won a trip to Victoria, Las Vegas and Hollywood.

PANAMA CITY — Robert Arias, husband of British prima ballerina Margot Fonteyn and an anti-government leader who took asylum in the Brazilian embassy two months ago, left for Brazil under a safe conduct agreement.

TORONTO — Rev. Norman O'Connor, a Roman Catholic priest from Boston will be master of ceremonies at the first Canadian Jazz Festival here next month.

EDMONTON — A 102-year-old Alberta pioneer, Francis Xavier Lapierre, who attributed his long life to unshaken faith, clean living and hard work, has died here.

SASKATOON — Magistrate J. M. Pollock imposed a two-year suspended sentence on city police corporal J. F. Urquhart who was convicted of unlawfully and corruptly accepting money.

Germ War Test Safe—Pearkes

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Pearkes said yesterday he is satisfied there is no danger involved in germ warfare experiments being conducted by the defence research board station at Suffield in southeastern Alberta.

Replying to a question from H. W. Herdridge (CCF—Kootenay West), Mr. Pearkes said in the Commons that the experiments are aimed at ascertaining the best defences against germ warfare.

Eight of 10 Off Street

City council compromised yesterday on the number of off-street parking spaces an apartment building should be required to have.

At present, the zoning bylaw requires that a parking space be provided for each apartment in a new building.

Aldermen Austin Curtis and Geoffrey Edgelow maintained that spaces for 65 per cent of the apartments would be enough; especially, Ald. Edgelow said, because so many elderly persons without cars lived in apartments.

On the other hand, Ald. M. H. Mooney held that the age of two cars to each home was fast approaching, and that council should prepare for it now.

Chamber Backs Planning Report

Full support for the Capital Region Planning Board report was given this week by the directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The directors approved a recommendation made by the public affairs group that the chamber should also take steps to encourage the various municipal authorities to agree to its adoption.

Parking Space Law Relaxed For Apartments

Council rejected the 65 per cent level by a tie vote. Then it voted almost solidly to set the level at 80 per cent.

If the minimum security prison at William Head can be "even 50 per cent successful," it will be a wonderful thing," Ald. Elmer McEwen told council.

Despite the recent escape of four men, he said, council should do everything possible to see that it remained in operation.

Council unanimously endorsed the proposal that Greater Victoria should have a single juvenile court with male and female probation officers and a family court with social workers attached to it, aimed at reducing the breakup of homes.

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee has asked all the area's councils to state their opinions on the proposal.

Council agreed to meet the advisory planning commission to hear its report on the master physical development plan prepared by the Capital Region Planning Board. Mayor Percy Scourrah on his return from Europe will choose the date.

Capital Region Planning Board informed council it is willing and able to carry out an urban renewal survey, without extra cost to the city, which might lead to rehabilitation of rundown areas with federal financial support.

Without debate, aldermen voted unanimously to have the municipal affairs committee of the Real Estate Board of Victoria sell seven city-owned houses on Chambers and Queens through the multiple listing system.

Six of the houses were moved from the Yates Street firehall site and one from Caledonia Avenue, then all were refurbished and modernized. Three were turned into duplexes.

Crown to Appeal Judge's Ruling

EDMONTON (CP) — The Crown announced Thursday that it has filed a cross-appeal in connection with the life sentence given to Stanley Williamson, 19, of Edmonton, in connection with the slaying of high school student Howard Gates.

Gates 16, was killed and five girls injured in a shooting spree at Ross Sheppard High School in West Edmonton last March.

Last week William Bloor, counsel for Williamson, filed an appeal against the life sentence given to Williamson on a reduced charge of manslaughter. He contended the sentence was excessive.

H. J. Wilson, deputy attorney general, said Thursday the Crown will appeal on three points:

That the judge (Mr. Justice Peter Giesche) erred in charging provocation as a defence when no evidence existed to support such a charge.

That the judge erred in leaving it to the jury to bring in a possible manslaughter verdict.

And that the manslaughter verdict brought in by the jury was perverse.

It is expected that both appeals will be heard in September.

Did Another Man Kill Constable?

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. (CP)—A crown witness testified Thursday that he thought a man other than Earle Ronald Laing caused the blow that killed a Newfoundland policeman during a fight between police and loggers at Badger March 10.

Const. John Gatherall of the Newfoundland constabulary said at the opening of Laing's trial on a murder charge that he felt the blow was caused by Walter Paul, one of nine men arrested after the fight and charged with rioting.

Gatherall was standing next to fatally-injured Const. William Moss. "I saw a stick coming towards me," Gatherall testified. "I ducked. I don't know if the stick was in somebody's hand or if it was thrown."

He said the only civilian within striking distance was Paul, who ran to an alley next to a church. "Paul ran with a hop. I later learned he was a cripple."

RCMP Sgt. John Hogan, in charge of the case, said Laing sent for him from a jail in Grand Falls, Nfld., March 12. He said Laing signed a statement in which he said he struck a red-headed policeman who was trying to arrest his nephew.

Various witnesses testified Thursday that Moss was a blond. Gatherall said that besides Moss an RCMP constable was hit on the back of the

The CBC and Its Troubles

IF cancellation of a single three-minute radio commentary meant that freedom of air speech was threatened then the CBC would indeed be in a bad way. Unless the mass resignations of producers and program supervisors was the result of prima donna tendencies—a factor not entirely to be ignored—there must be more to the disturbance than this one skeletal program.

Yet in restoring the disputed commentary—and with somewhat panicky haste—the CBC directors have weakened the position of the acting president. If management erred in this instance, well and good. But if staff members are to be the arbiters of the kind of policy and programs the CBC is to promote the future outlook is none too reassuring. Producers may be swayed by the whims of the moment and their own temperaments, and frequently are.

On the whole the CBC has performed its function very well. Over the years it has developed standards of taste and quality that are the envy of other networks. It has shown careful regard for its role of moulder of opinion and preserver of the Canadian way of life. Much of the credit for this must go to its management, which directs the operations of the producing teams it employs. The latter may not always see the wood for the trees.

Doubtless there have been tentative and private approaches from time to time which might be deemed political. It would be strange if this were not so, even if neither the former nor the present government as such can be indicted. Private MPs would not be human if occasionally they did not express their views in conversation. Many ordinary individuals have done so.

There has been no direct interference by the present government, however, which is the nub of the matter at the moment. At least the staff members who resigned have offered no evidence nor made any specific charge of this kind. Until they do in fact their case remains weak. It is not enough simply to be dissatisfied with the way management carries on its business.

Possibly there has been a weakening on the high administrative level since Mr. Davidson Dunton, the former head, left the broadcasting field. The present president is ill and the current acting president, Mr. Ernest Bushnell, may not be clothed with requisite authority. There have been suggestions that lack of strength since Mr. Dunton left may be at the seat of the current CBC troubles.

There is of course the thought that the speedy reversal by the directors of the acting president's ruling on the three-minute commentary which sparked the mass resignations—now mostly withdrawn—might be the result of some political persuasion, or the fear of it. This is something which should come out when the commonsense broadcasting committee takes the CBC under review next week. So should the whole matter of political interference, so far only vaguely hinted at. It is essential that the CBC should be free from any suggestion of political pressure. But it is equally necessary that program producers of themselves do not become the last word in CBC operations.

Hit-and-Run Drivers

THE supreme coward among motorists is the hit-and-run driver. There will be hearty approval, therefore, of the amendment to the Criminal Code now before the House of Commons to compel the courts to cancel the licences of those who, in the wording of the law, "leave the scene of an accident" without rendering assistance.

When this amendment becomes law—as it undoubtedly will, so great is the contempt of the public for those drivers who take refuge in flight—cancellation of licences, together with whatever other punishment the courts may inflict, will not be at the discretion of the magistrates; a conviction will make revocation of licence mandatory, as it should be.

The driver who leaves his victim unconscious or in agony at the roadside—perhaps to die there when swift attention would save his life—proves himself to be unfit to have a licence. It is of little consequence whether the action of fleeing from the scene of an accident is deliberate or the result of panic; it remains as evidence of inherent irresponsibility.

Many of the courts across Canada have been far too lenient with hit-and-run motorists, and it may be for that reason that the minister of justice proposes to take the matter of cancellation out of their hands. It will be a relief to the magistrates also that they no longer will have to listen to the plaintive excuses of fugitive drivers.

Conviction Stands

THE rejection of the appeal by Robert Sommers and H. Wilson Gray by the Supreme Court of Canada yesterday brings finality to the conviction which stands against them after jury trial in a B.C. court. Other facets of the long-drawn-out case, including that of appeal against sentence, may still be open; but the guilt of the former mines minister, and his associate in this instance, has been established by the highest court in the land. That reinforces the request to the government made before the indictments for a thorough-going inquiry into what was done by Mr. Sommers in an executive capacity while a minister of the crown in all matters where he acted in the right of the Province.

This request, made at the time by Liberals in the Legislature, has now been renewed by Mr. Strachan, as leader of the official Opposition. While the administration of forest management licences was mentioned in the trial, only one or two licences were involved or investigated. For the government's own standing, and to satisfy justifiable public demand for assurance that the full consequences of this lapse on the part of a former member of the cabinet have been determined and put right, such an inquiry should be held.

Interpreting the News

Kerala Conundrum

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE anti-Communist campaign in Kerala has presented Prime Minister Nehru, currently visiting that Red-ruled Indian state, with an unhappy choice.

It may well be that the prime minister, while content that the Communist state regime has hit a rocky road in Kerala, wishes that his supporters there had waited a while before starting their campaign—until election time.

Nehru's Congress Party is in power not only in the central New Delhi government but also in all 14 Indian states except Kerala. The Kerala branch is among the combined opposition forces trying to bring down the Communist government of E. M. S. Nambudiripad.

Mrs. Indira Gandhi, Congress Party president and Nehru's daughter, has stated that the state party command is acting on its own, without authorization from national headquarters.

As the real power in the National Party, Nehru is faced with a decision on whether the Kerala adherents should receive full-scale backing. As prime minister he must decide whether or not conditions in Kerala warrant intervention by the central government to restore order.

The Communists won power in an election two years ago and would normally remain in office until at least 1962, when the next election is scheduled.

Opposition political parties, backed by a Christian-Hindu alliance, are demanding that the Communists get out now, the main spark of their "non-violent" rebellion being an education law that would increase the government's control over private schools and teachers.

Other factors, including an unemployment roll of 2,000,000 in a population of 14,000,000, are adding to the unrest. The opposition maintains it is justified in using the time-honored methods of passive resistance to bring down a Communist government.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT seems to be open season on the Queen in Canada. The Altrinchams and Muggersides on this side of the Atlantic are baying like hounds on the scent.

Some of them for pay. There was the TV miss who was "indifferent" although probably not to the fee she would receive for so saying. There is a journalistic miss spreading belittlement, and even a fisherman-boxer has got into the act. He seems to think the Queen caused the waves that brought disaster to New Brunswick fishing villages.

And, like Muggerside, these deprecators waited until the Queen arrived before they bayed. There's good manners for you. Naturally enough some native Canadians, perhaps quite a number, even might not be enthusiastic about the present royal tour. Not all of them are of British heritage, and until recently the monarchy was a comparatively abstract thing for this country.

It lacked, and still does, the intimacy that makes the monarch part of the fibre of life. British life. Canadians, also, as they grew up, had a different awareness from those who matured in Shakespeare's sceptred isle. The fires of fervor that kingship bred in Britain over long centuries left them untouched.

This is quite understandable, I think. The critics of royalty must therefore be taken as part of the Canadian scene. What is less acceptable in these self-appointed detractors is their assumption that they speak for the majority of this country's citizens. By and large they speak mostly for themselves.

Let us take the journalistic miss, by name, apparently, of June Callwood. She is a Canadian who has written an article for the widely-circulated U.S. magazine Look. Its tenor may be judged by the front-cover statement: "Queen Elizabeth: Why Canadians Resent Her."

Not, you will observe, why Miss Callwood resents her but why Canadians, plural and all-embracing, resent her.

That is pompous and pontifical, to say the least. It is to be noted, into the bargain, that the article has been timed to appear while the Queen is touring its writer's own country, and that it appears in a neighboring but foreign journal.

There's good taste and fealty for you.

Can you imagine any American writer selling to a Canadian magazine an article which proclaims: "President Eisenhower: Why Americans Resent Him." You can't, because Americans have pride in and respect for their own country and its institutions, and wouldn't dream of belittling them in foreign print, no matter what they might think privately.

Miss Callwood obviously has much to learn in this respect.

There is no room here to discuss her article in detail, which, except perhaps for its general tone and some foolish passages, would be legitimate enough if printed before the Queen arrived. Facts are not to be denied by ignoring them and some anti-monarchist sentiment does exist in Canada.

One factor that plays against the Crown is the excess of sycophantic flattery that imprisons the Queen; it is not compatible with the Canadian way of life and it offends some even of her staunchest supporters.

But were she not the Queen, the young Elizabeth, an attractive, intelligent and personable woman, would be a welcome guest in almost every Canadian home. It would be thought the height of rudeness then to speak ill of her or her family.

Because she is the Queen does not alter this basic courtesy.

When she leaves our shores let the hounds bay if they want to; but while she is a guest in their national home let them have the decency to keep silent. They need not cheer; but still less should they sneer.

Letter from London

On the Edge of a Volcano

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

BRITAIN has entered its third printing strike in the last six years. This time it affects job printers and newspapers outside London. The result is likely to be catastrophic as a long-term policy for both sides. The men have demanded 10 per cent increase in wages and a cut in hours to 40 per week against a present 43½. The employers have offered a 2½ per cent increase and a 42-hour week. The printing unions have refused to accept arbitration.

The effect of the strike is that many provincial newspapers have published their last edition until the strike ends. Many job printers have closed down. Some of the more important weekly reviews have made arrangements to print in Belgium, Switzerland and France. There are threats that the distribution of these papers will be affected by unions not at present involved in the strike.

Nearly 1,000 printing firms have resigned from the Master Printers' Federation on the grounds that their responsibilities to their customers are greater than to the federation. Most of them are small concerns and it is reported that they represent only 6 per cent of the total labor force involved in printing.

About a dozen newspapers have withdrawn from the Newspaper Society and made their individual peace with the unions concerned and will publish as usual. The most dramatic withdrawal from the Federation of Master Printers has been Waterlow & Company, one of the largest printers in the country, printing amongst other things the 8,000,000 copies weekly of the BBC's Radio Times, and bank notes.

What will happen eventually no one knows. The first effect has been a staggering demand for office printing machines. Many large firms and municipalities have decided to install these machines and the result is that a great deal of business will be lost permanently to the printing trade. The second is that even if the union demands are agreed in full it will take more than nine weeks to recover what is lost in wages every week. If, as one union secretary has predicted, it last for 10 weeks it will take the unions nearly two years to recover the lost pay. It will take the employers longer to recover the lost business.

There has been one demonstration of solidarity. Both the master printers and the trade unions have requested their opposite numbers on the continent not to undertake work offered to them as a result of the strike. There has been partial success—but it seems obvious that some European printers and their employees have decided not to quarrel with their livelihood.

Next, of course, is the probability of progressive involvement of other unions. At present daily newspapers printed in London are not affected but it seems probable that they may be if they attempt to print additional copies to cater for the absence of provincial morning and evening and weekly newspapers. If provincial newspapers are able to produce skeleton editions it is likely that transport workers will refuse to distribute them.

One London newspaper, the News Chronicle, has been threatened with non-delivery of printing ink because it published a leading article critical of the strike. If unavailability of ink makes it impossible for the newspaper to appear it is possible that an agreement between London newspapers providing for the cessation of all newspapers if one is affected by a labor dispute will be brought into action.

The result is that the whole printing industry is standing on the edge of a volcano. Anything may happen.

Pathological Problem

Car Crimes and the Law

(From The London Spectator)

CAR crimes are one of the ugliest pathological symptoms society suffers from today.

Yet the culprits in serious car crimes are not regarded as "criminals." Even where they excite public obloquy—hit-and-run drivers, for example—they tend to get relatively light sentences.

Magistrates who would send a woman to jail for stealing a few shillings will often let off a driver on a manslaughter charge with a homily to the effect that the knowledge that he has killed will be punishment enough. The woman—it can of course be argued—wanted the money; the motorist did not want the corpse. But this is becoming harder to substantiate.

A man, carrying a knife, walks to the local one evening, takes too many drinks, gets involved in a brawl, and kills somebody: how much more of a murderer is he than his richer neighbor who drives to the local, takes too many drinks, gets into his car, and kills somebody?

The distinction is surely too slight to justify the discrepancy in the treatment of the offenders—particularly when for every one man convicted of crimes of violence no fewer than eight are convicted of serious driving charges—many of whom have, in fact, done violence to pedestrians, cyclists or other motorists. And the disproportion would be still higher if many of the dangerous drivers had not killed themselves in the process, rendering themselves ineligible for prosecution.

There is no obvious remedy. In theory, stiffer penalties could be imposed; but it is doubtful whether they would have the required deterrent effect. Deterrence is based on the assumption that crime is premeditated—that the criminal weighs up the advantages he may reap against the punishment he may expect if he is caught. But dangerous driving is not as a rule premeditated; motorists rarely plan to run over pedestrians.

Besides, if heavier penalties were enacted the courts would simply cease to convict. Not many magistrates have ever carried around knives for self-defence, so they can lightly impose heavy sentences on anybody who does; but most magistrates are guilty every week of their lives of actions which, if they happened to involve them in an accident, could bring them to court on a manslaughter charge.

The law, in other words, is unfitted to deal with this new brand of crime.

On a Silver Platter

(From The Fort Erie Letter-Review)

AMONG some 50 applicants for employment, ranging from 18 to 20 years of age, "the great majority sauntered in for an interview with both hands stuffed in their pockets, some with cigarettes dangling from their mouths," writes Nova Scotia businessman Leo C. Hogan in a letter to the Halifax Chronicle-Herald.

"On more than one occasion," says Mr. Hogan, "I have had to move fast to get my chair before they did. Most of them sat down before being asked to. The number who addressed the interviewer as 'Sir' could be counted on one hand. The appearance of most was generally unkempt, with dirty hands and finger nails. The hair-do's I'll say nothing about. Perhaps they are the style."

Why, wonders Mr. Hogan, are today's teenagers lacking in neatness and in good manners? Chances are that climate of contemporary politics, together with parental indifference, has left many just entering the labor force with the notion that the world owes them a living and that employers exist only to hand them jobs on a silver platter.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

AT a garden party for new Canadians thrown by a friend of mine who thinks up interesting things, he made a little speech to the 30 or 40 guests from abroad, mingled with some 40 or 50 of us indigenous Canadians.

It was an extremely hot afternoon, but the peonies, roses and marigolds in the garden were at their finest. A hifi at the back window of his house dispensed mood music. The picnic table refreshments had been super. And the new Canadians, British, Poles, Hungarians, Germans, had had a very happy time.

In his speech, my friend made only one derogatory crack about Canada.

"The climate," he said, "leaves something to be desired. It will take you a little while, maybe a generation or two, to get used to it; arctic in winter, tropic in summer."

When he finished, with applause, his aged father got up.

"Look here, folks," he said, mopping his old bald brow: "When it's cold, you can always get warm. But when it's hot, you can't get cool. I want to tell you, as an old Canadian, that we get only a few weeks of this kind of weather. The best Canadian weather is cold. Everybody you hear will bellyache about how cold Canada is. All I want you newcomers to remember is this afternoon. And next February, no matter how cold it is, just remember today, and thank God for a famous climate."

One thing is sure: the Canadian climate is always interesting.

With the Classics

By heaven methinks it were an easy leap
To pluck bright honour from the pale-fac'd moon,
Or deep into the bottom of the deep,
Where fathom-line could never touch the ground,
And pluck up drowned honour by the locks;
So he that doth redeem her thence might wear
Without corral all her dignities.
—SHAKESPEARE

Wrong Approach

Each escape from William Head brings similar comment from both harassed officials and concerned citizens. Before the concept of minimum security programs suffers further in the hands of novices and laymen, certain facts should be made public.

The principles behind minimum security institutions are no longer experimental or unproven. They are effectively operating wherever there is an enlightened correctional system. Unfortunately, our federal system, until recently an exclusively maximum security system, cannot yet be so defined. It has continued to be dominated by custody, inflexibility and lip service to treatment in spite of the Archambault Report in 1938 and Fauteux Report in 1956.

The basic principles behind minimum and maximum programs are contradictory in many respects. Security in the latter is solely a matter of controls external to the individual. It is maintained through a custodial staff. In the former, it must be inner controls from within the individual and group. It is maintained through program participation and belief in the program as a means to a better way of life.

The individual is allowed to keep a large part of his individuality and is made an intimate part of the treatment process, as opposed to a passive, embittered person whose primary identification is an institutional number.

Presumably the approval for the development of William Head was primarily initiated to relieve overcrowding at the B.C. Penitentiary. As an afterthought, it was rightfully considered that the site lent itself to a minimum security type program.

Understandably, the affects have been somewhat similar to those expected if suddenly the formidable concrete walls around B.C. Penitentiary were removed.

If it is necessary to attach responsibility for escapes, it should be attached neither to escapes nor the concept of minimum security institutions. Rather it should be to the persons responsible for developing and implementing what passes as a minimum security program at William Head. The public should be made aware of the fact that by known standards this program is unorthodox and bears few resemblances to a true minimum security program.

Selfless Service

As the minor baseball season draws to its close for this year, I feel a public vote of thanks should be expressed to those who make it possible for the leagues to play.

After a hard day's work many men come home and often they cannot have time for a meal before they are off again in their uniforms, at the various diamonds, ready and willing to devote their spare time to the training of our young folk. Managers, coaches, and all who are instrumental in furthering this worthwhile project deserve and should get grateful thanks from us all.

There are many men in this city of ours who voluntarily devote more time than is realized to the physical and moral training of our youth.

During the winter there are also numerous football teams and this calls for the same selfless devotion to a cause.

I know I speak for all parents of the boys they guide and help when I say, "Thank you, fellows; God bless you."

(Mrs.) HILARY D. YOUNG.

Duke Road, Albert Head.

Secrets All for Collective Bargaining

Bennett Still Silent On Servants' Report

Premier Bennett told reporters yesterday his government is 100 per cent in favor of collective bargaining, but when asked when he would release the Carrothers report which recommends on bargaining rights for provincial civil servants, he said "no comment."

The premier said the provincial government will not interfere in the steelworkers strike or in the woodworkers dispute.

"Our labor legislation allows full collective bargaining. It is up to management and labor to get together," the premier said. "Both sides should never stop until they come to an agreement."

Apparently referring to a series of radio, television and newspaper advertisements by both the IWA and the timber operators, the premier said "name-calling is not collective bargaining. Collective bargaining is, not issuing statements, one against the other."

SITTING ON REPORT

But on the matter of giving the civil servants collective bargaining rights, the premier was silent. The government has been sitting on the Carrothers report since March and has refused to release it despite many appeals in the legislature and a civil service strike that might have been settled by its release.

Iraq Boasts Atom Arms From Russia

BAGHDAD (Reuters). — The Iraqi Army now is armed with nuclear weapons, the president of the people's court said Thursday.

Col. Fadhel Abbas Mahdawi, president of the court, said the rearming of the army with the most modern arms, including nuclear weapons, has been completed.

He said the equipment included radar and Russian-built jets as well as other "secret arms" Iraq has procured since the present government came to power in a revolution a year ago.

Col. Mahdawi was speaking during the trial of 21 Iraqi army officers and civilians on charges of complicity in the recent uprising in Mosul in northern Iraq.

Third Minister Quitting Cabinet

REGINA (CP). — Another Saskatchewan cabinet minister, Highways Minister J. T. Douglas, has announced he will not seek re-election.

Earlier, Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines, Welfare Minister T. J. Bentley, and Hon. J. H. Sturdy, assistant to the premier, announced they will retire.

The next Saskatchewan election is expected in 1960.

Also retiring are Speaker James Darling, James Gibson (CCF, Moose Jaw) and D. H. Heming (CCF, Moose Jaw).

Bowater's to Go On Six-Day Week

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP). — A six-day work week, to last possibly until the end of the year, will be inaugurated Aug. 1 at the Bowater's Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mills Limited here.

The mills went on a five-day work week May 1 of last year when the market sagged.

He'll Serve Five Years

Sommers' Last Hope Dashed by Courts

OTTAWA (CP). — Robert Sommers, former lands minister of British Columbia, and H. Wilson Gray, Vancouver lumberman, will remain in Oakalla Penitentiary to serve five-year terms for bribery and conspiracy.

The Supreme Court of Canada Thursday unanimously upheld their convictions. Sommers, for accepting bribes from Gray, and Gray for paying them in return for favorable treatment in obtaining forest management licences.

POINTS OF LAW

Sommers, 48, and Gray, 46, had appealed their conviction on two points of law, which were rejected earlier in a 2-to-1 judgment of the B.C. appeal court and which Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux, writing for the seven judges who heard the appeal, also dismissed.

The points of law were that Sommers was improperly charged as an "official" of the government, instead of being impeached, and that the charges were laid after a two-year limitation from the date of the offences.

CANNOT AGREE

Mr. Justice Fauteux wrote that he cannot agree with "the proposition that the code applies only to non-political officials as distinguished from political officials."

"At common law, corruption of any official, either judicial

'Blackest Page' Closed CCF Chieftain Says

Provincial CCF leader Strachan said yesterday the supreme court of Canada decision upholding convictions in the Sommers case writes finished "to one of the blackest pages in the legal history of our province."

He charged in a statement that Premier Bennett and his government have brought shame to the province by "allowing their political interests to transcend their public duty."

"I regret that the premier and our attorney general have brought such dishonor and disgrace to the parliamentary traditions of our people. For cheap political advantage the premier and his cabinet acquiesced in the failure of the attorney-general to pursue the normal judicial procedures demanded of his high office."

"When the evidence was presented to the attorney-general in 1955 he said he was 'skeptical' and the decision of the supreme court answers that skepticism."

"No one in our province can ever again trust the judgment of Mr. Bonner."

Oils Return To Favor At New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Autos and Oils led a late rally on the stock market today as the accompaniment of late tickers.

Volume picked up in tempo near the close as the market duplicated Wednesday's pattern with a last minute rush.

The autos enjoyed some good buying near the close and American Motors jumped ahead more than 2 points. Chrysler added better than 1 point.

The oils were the real surprise in the rally. After being knocked down for a long time, they finally turned around with a vengeance. Richfield jumped around 4, Kerr-McGee more than 1, Atlantic Refining around 2 and Standard Oil (New Jersey) a major fraction. Amerasia, off more than a point most of the day, came back to rule firm.

Steels also rallied with the exception of Lukens which went the other way. It dropped more than 3. Good gains appeared in Brunswick, Balke, General Tire, Lorillard, Good year, and Harris Interpipe.

Hudson's Bay Leads

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils scored their best index advance in almost two months as they led the stock market in active trading.

Four of the five most active speculative gains but the best win went to Jacobus, ahead 50 cents at $2.55.

Among industrials only one of the five most active gained, three lost. Dominion Foundries and Steel was up 1/4, at 47 1/2 while Canada Packers B was ahead 1/4 at 53. International Paper led losers, off 4 at 110.

Hudson's Bay was the leader in western oils, rising 1 at 17 1/2. Home B and Calgary and Edmonton each added 1/2 while Bailey Selburn was up 20 cents at $7.80.

Seniors were mixed but juniors were easier in base metals. Steep Rock added 1/2 at 12 1/2 and International Nickel gained 1/4 at 92 1/2.

Hollinger, up 1/4 at 31 1/2, led golds.

Papers Strengthen

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were irregular with mainly fractional changes in active trading.

Papers were mixed. Dominion Foundry gained 1 1/2 points at 47 1/2 and Canada Iron at 33 1/2. Dominion Steel dropped 1/4 to 78 1/2.

In lower oils BA lost 1/4 at 35 and Imperial lost 1/4 at 39.

Metals were mixed, with Canadian British Aluminum hitting a new high at 15 1/2, up 1/4. Hudson's Bay rose 1/4 at 51 1/2 and Asbestos rose 1/4 at 28 1/2.

Aluminum dropped 1/4 at 34.

Powell River led a rise in papers by gaining 2 1/4 to 42. Fraser gained 1/4 at 31 1/2 and Consolidated Paper rose 1/4 at 41 1/2.

Foodstuffs were mixed. Weston's B dropped 1 1/4 to 40 1/2 and Dominion was off 1/4 at 69.

Boost for Powell

VANCOUVER (CP)—Powell River led industrials higher at $42 for a two dollar gain on the day. Trans-Canada at $25 1/2 and Dominion Tar at $17 1/2 were also higher.

Mines were dull and lower with Bethlehem 1 1/2, Craigmont 3 1/2, Mid West Copper 19 cents, and Giant Mascot 21 cents.

Among oils Pacific Petroleum was $13 1/2, Peace River 55 cents and Fort St. John 250.

Firm Must Pay Tax on $90,000

OTTAWA (CP)—General Construction Co. Ltd. of Vancouver Thursday was ordered by the Supreme Court of Canada to pay income tax on an additional $90,000 in the 1950 taxation year, which the firm contended was a capital gain.

The Supreme Court said the $90,000 represented part of the company's profit in a joint venture and was taxable income.

Bond Market Given Tonic

By HARRY YOUNG
(Colonist Business Editor)

A reduction in the Bank of Canada rediscount rate acted Thursday as a mild stimulant to Canada's sagging bond market. Government of Canada long term and medium term bonds stiffened fractionally and most of the popular issues are now at least half a point above their lows.

ESTIMATES EXCEEDED

Sales of automobiles in the U.S. may reach 6,500,000 units this year, according to current sales figures.

The new estimate is 500,000 units higher than the most optimistic previous estimate and 1,000,000 above the figure forecast last August by H. Currier, then president of General Motors.

Figures for the first six months of 1959 are expected to be 3,300,000 cars.

Ike Gets To Keep Golf Cart

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's golf cart, his Congressional "lobbying" staff, and such other White House conveniences as limousines and aircraft came under sharp Senate scrutiny Wednesday.

But the Senate ultimately passed, 79 to 2, a $13,568,500 bill to run the White House, budget bureau and some other general government offices.

The two dissenting votes were cast by Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D, Ill.) and William Proxmire (D, Wis.). They unsuccessfully offered amendments to trim a total of $385,000 from the White House budget by cutting its work force.

Proxmire tried to cut out $85,000 in order to abolish five of the seven presidential aides who serve as liaison officers for Congress. He called them "lobbyists" and said their use was "morally indefensible."

Douglas challenged the president's use of a "motorized golf cart" costing $1,000 and driven by a secret service agent when the chief executive plays golf.

ACCRA, Ghana — A Ghana commission which has been investigating allegations of a plot to assassinate Premier Kwame Nkrumah charged an unidentified foreign power is backing a conspiracy to overthrow his government.

Lucky Lager Deal 'Far from Frank'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of Lucky Lager Breweries Ltd. wrote a "vague, suppressive and insincere" letter to shareholders urging them to accept an offer for their shares, a lawyer said Wednesday.

J. G. McIntosh of Victoria made the statement before Mr. Justice A. M. Manson in Supreme Court chambers. McIntosh is representing three clients who are fighting the attempt of John Labatt Ltd., a big Canadian brewing company, to acquire their Lucky Lager shares for $5.25 each.

VICTORIA COUPLE

Labatt's recently took over the shares of Lucky, a Vancouver firm, at $5.25. It has announced it has more than 90 per cent of the Lucky shares.

McIntosh said his clients Gerald (Pat) Dunn, his wife Jean, of Victoria, and Sooke Investments Ltd., hold 1,260 shares.

Mr. McIntosh said the letter to shareholders was written by

Victorians Fight Back

George Morgan, Lucky president, May 8, 1958, and was the first indication to the shareholders that another brewery wanted to buy their stock.

"This letter is far from being a frank and full disclosure of the John Labatt proposal," said McIntosh. "About the kindest thing I can say about this report to shareholders is that it is a vague, suppressive and insincere letter."

POLICY CONCEALED

He said the letter didn't say that Lucky directors had optioned their stock or that the management was to be changed.

He said that Lucky (B.C.)

owns a large number of shares of Capital Estates, which in turn owns a large number of shares of Lucky Lager Brewing of California.

The lawyer criticized Pemberton Securities Ltd., which he said was paid $5,000 for obtaining shareholder acceptance of the Labatt's bid.

EMPLOYEE 'IMMATURE'

The Pemberton employee, Michael Ryan, who evaluated Lucky shares did it for Labatt's and was "immature" and lacked care, he said.

"I wonder why the affidavit wasn't taken by some other person — W. J. Borrie," Mr. McIntosh said. "Borrie is a director of Pemberton's, Lucky Lager, Capital Estates, and Lucky Lager of California. Who better to come for an evaluation than W. J. Borrie?"

Instead they "sent a boy to do a man's job."

Mr. McIntosh said there was "complete concealment" of the fact that the appraised value of Lucky's fixed assets was higher than the book value.

... 'tight' fight

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tight money in Canada may lead to an explosive clash between Prime Minister Diefenbaker's government and Governor James Coyne of the Bank of Canada, Wall Street bond experts said yesterday.

"Coyne is leading the fight against inflation in Canada," said one expert who didn't wish to be identified. "He seems to be in complete charge and apparently he is determined not to increase the amount of money in circulation any more."

"But the government needs money and doesn't seem inclined to cut spending drastically. So if Coyne sticks to his guns, it looks like there will have to be a showdown between him and Finance Minister Fleming."

Wall Street Expects Policy Fight

This Wall Street view is based on some of Mr. Fleming's recent remarks. The finance minister keeps insisting Canada is not following a "tight money" policy — yet to Wall Streeters the policies of the Bank of Canada under Mr. Coyne look tight.

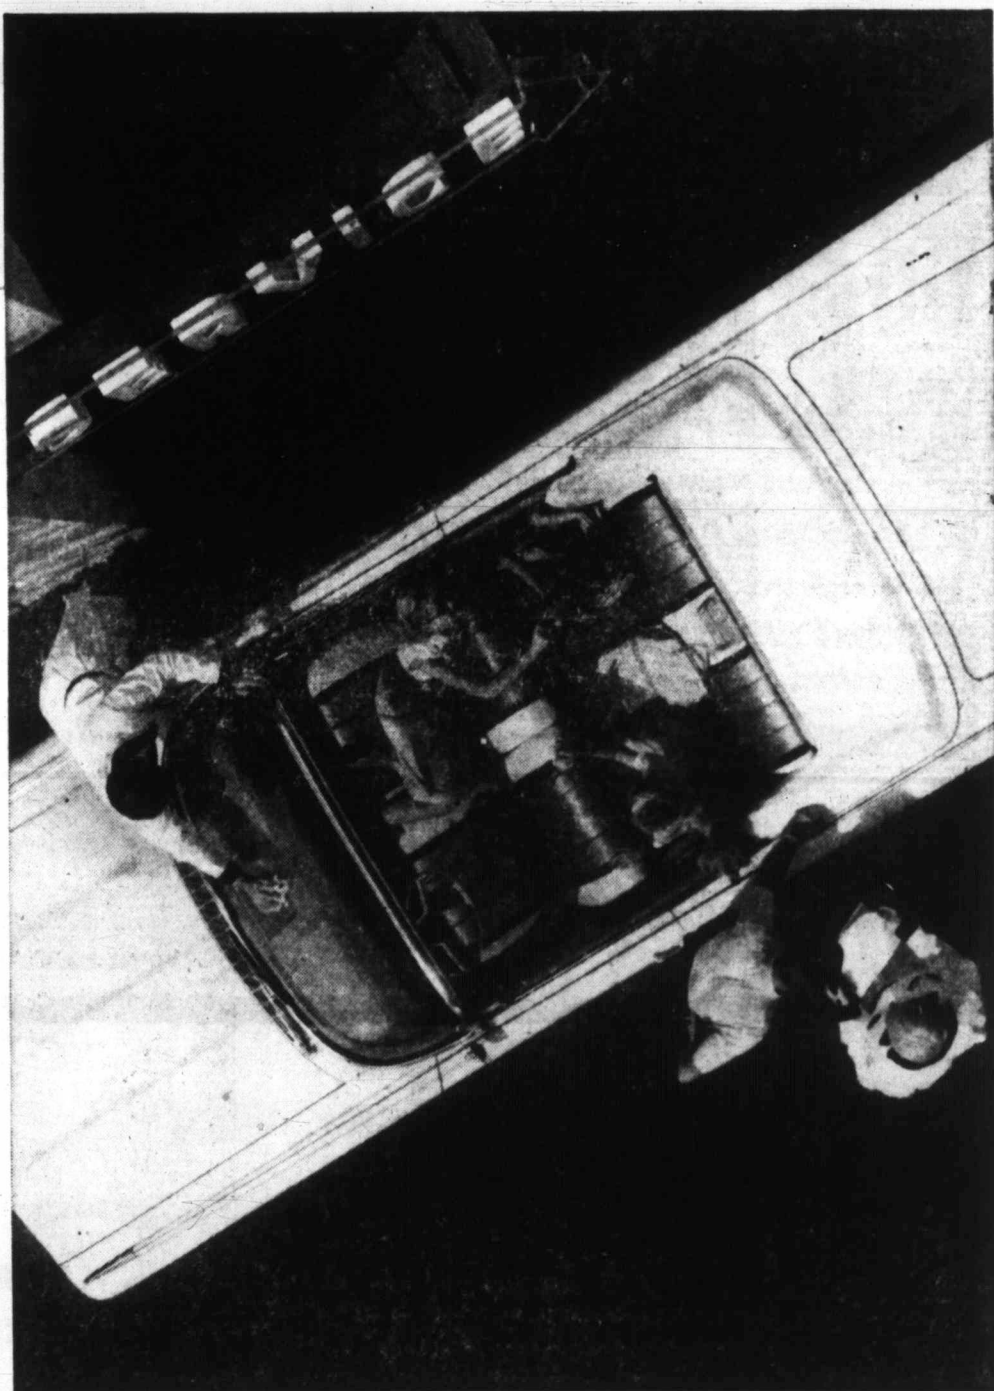

As Wall Street sees it, the money pinch in Canada is a lot worse at present than in the United States, although both countries are really feeling it.

Canada has no legal ceiling on government bond interest rates, yet Wall Streeters say it would be hard to sell a new long-term issue of government bonds on the Canadian market now even at interest rates a little above the present market. Canadian investors just don't want long-term bonds. They prefer equity shares or short-term loans.

Wall Streeters say Mr. Coyne appears to believe high interest rates need not interfere with resumption of Canada's industrial boom and that "Canada can be prosperous on tight money."

But they ask if the Diefenbaker government will accept such a philosophy or will Finance Minister Fleming, with the prime minister's support, put pressure on Mr. Coyne and the Bank of Canada to bring back cheaper money? Such pressure could lead to a crisis.

Last Island Coal Mine May Close in Spring

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The last of Vancouver Island's coal mines may be closed down next spring to bring to an end the industry which first made the Island famous.

News of the impending closure comes indirectly through the B.C. Cement Company which has received word that Canadian Collieries Resources may not be able to continue to supply coal to the Bamerton plant when the existing contract ends next summer.

BEST CUSTOMER

For the past few years B.C. Cement has been the principal customer for Vancouver Island coal. It has taken rather more than 50 per cent of all the output of the Canadian Collieries Island mines.

R. H. Ellison, executive assistant to the president, Thursday confirmed that B.C. Cement had been warned to look out for alternative methods of fueling its Bamerton plant when the existing contract with Canadian Collieries expires.

"It has not been decided what will happen to our Vancouver Island coal operations," said Mr. Ellison.

OUTLOOK POOR

He agreed, however, that the B.C. coal outlook was distinctly poor, and noted that the company was at present preparing to close down its single remaining Alberta mine at Mercoal.

The only Canadian Collieries operation on Vancouver Island is the T'Sable River mine near Cumberland. Coal from the mine is shipped from the dock at Union Bay. Coal mines in the Nanaimo area were closed down several years ago.

Mr. Ellison said that every effort had been made by his company to find new markets for Vancouver Island coal.

TOO VOLATILE

Samples had been sent to Japan, but in each case the reply had been that the coal was too volatile (too full of gases) to be of any use in the Japanese steel mills and other metal refineries.

While Canadian Collieries will not confirm that it is going to close the T'Sable mine, the fact that it is giving up more than half of its dwindling market, makes such an assumption inevitable.

Coal has been mined on Vancouver Island since 1835 (at Squashish), and since 1852 (at Nanaimo).

6,000 MINERS

At one time more than 6,000 miners were engaged in the industry and 58 per cent of all the coal produced in British Columbia came from Island mines.

Nanaimo was entirely a "coal town" and Vancouver Island's first and greatest millionaire family, the Duncmuirs, virtually controlled the industry from its earliest days in Nanaimo.

Although over 75,000,000 tons have been taken from Island mines, the reserves are still reckoned higher than that figure.

The trouble is that ships no longer want coal as a fuel, and there's no immediate other use in sight for the coal that is left.

END OF AN ERA

The end of an era is in sight.

B. Franklin Cox, general manager of B.C. Cement, said that his company had been well satisfied with the coal it takes from Canadian Collieries, and the termination of the contract was regretted.

He added that the company on Vancouver Island by next summer.

It is expected that when Magma Pipe Lines makes its application to the B.C. government to pipe gas to Vancouver Island at a hearing in Vancouver July 6-7, B.C. Cement will indicate that it could be a possible major user of gas.

If assurances are not given that gas will be available, B.C. Cement will then turn to oil as its source of energy.

Is there anybody here from Brighton or Hove in Sussex, England?

Mrs. Olive Chase, drama correspondent and columnist for the Brighton and Hove Daily Argus and Weekly Gazette, prizewinning playwright, producer and director, is anxious to meet ex-residents of Brighton or Hove, especially those interested in any facet of entertainment.

Here until Wednesday, she is currently on a tour which has already taken her 15,000 miles across Canada and the United States and her quest for folk from Brighton (and Hove) has not gone unwarded.

For instance, 28 of the 30 girls in the chorus line at the Stardust Club in Las Vegas were English. And two were from Hove.

Incidentally, Brighton and Hove, with 500,000 population, have 64 active drama companies, pro and amateur.

If the rate of support were the same in Greater Victoria there should be at least 16 companies instead of the half-dozen or so that exist.

Mrs. Chase has another claim to fame. She is the mother of Aileen Chase, "Miss Great Britain" of 1952-53.

If you're from Brighton or Hove you're invited to give Mrs. Chase a ring at EV 2-7942.

'Buy B.C.' Campaign Pressed by Premier

Premier Bennett yesterday launched a drive to use British Columbia products by urging all government departments to establish a policy of buying B.C. products when price, quality, delivery and after-sale service compare favorably with similar goods on the market.

The premier said that policy is already in effect in the government purchasing department but there has not been direction before to government agencies.

The policy is being pressed in letters to the B.C. Power Commission, PGE Railway, and ministers of highways, public works and education.

"The greatest volume of our exports is in semi-finished materials," the premier said yesterday. "It is important then that goods fully manufactured in B.C. should receive the support they deserve and it is impossible to over-emphasize the benefits through employment and payrolls which will result from public acceptance of the home product."

"Support of B.C. products is complementary to the policy of reciprocal trade. By purchasing B.C. products we increase production, stimulate the demand for plant and equipment and for those raw materials we do not produce ourselves. Thus we strengthen our trade relations," the premier said.

The provincial cabinet approved an order-in-council making it legal for seeing-eye dogs accompanying the blind to enter eating and drinking places without violation of provincial health regulations.

Offices Don't Bring Tourists

Billboards and tourist literature placed in resorts or where prospective tourists will see them is what brings tourists to British Columbia, the premier said.

He didn't support Liberal Leader Ray Perrault's appeal to seek re-establishment of a Canadian travel bureau office at San Francisco.

"Offices do not get you tourist business," the premier said.

Premier Bennett scoffed at a claim by Liberal Leader Ray Perrault that the acid test of the premier's debt clearance claim will come when the premier announces tax reductions.

Same Old Bag of Wind

The highways minister called Conservative leader Deane Finlayson's demand for an independent commission to operate British Columbia's highways program "the same old bag of wind."

"A highway commission has been talked about for 40 years. If they are so good why don't the Conservatives get one in Manitoba, Ottawa and Ontario," he said.

In answer to a charge by Mr. Finlayson that Mr. Gagliardi is "the most expensive luxury this province ever had," the highways minister said he will let history take care of itself.

"There has been no government that has ever done more for the highway dollar than this government," Mr. Gagliardi said in answer to the Conservative leader's charge that the Social Credit government is the worst highway builders in history.

"Mr. Finlayson must be getting old. He is dipping back into the past. He forgets there has been a change," Mr. Gagliardi said in answer to more charges that he gives contracts to his friends who lack experience and financial stability.

"I would like to remind him the old regime left seven years ago. We don't dole out contracts," Mr. Gagliardi said. "The bids are opened publicly and given out after they have been gone over and recommended by my engineers."

Premier Bennett and his financial officers will leave for Ottawa next July 3 for a federal-provincial meeting of finance ministers and their technical advisers.

The premier said it will be a preliminary meeting to a full-scale federal-provincial conference.

Mystery Man's Story

'I Saw a Light Then Everything Went All Black'

Still recovering in Royal Jubilee Hospital from a week-long attack of amnesia, Robert Jervis, 21, of Vancouver, has one big wish: complete recovery and a return to a normal life.

Jervis' memory was restored Wednesday afternoon when Dr. Robert Peet tried an electro-convulsive shock treatment. From last Thursday morning until then, his mind was a complete blank.

Yesterday the young man, a clerk with Trans-Canada Airlines at their Vancouver office, recalled coming to Victoria.

He had worked in Vancouver only about two months, following two years in Toronto. He had visited Victoria before by air, so this time, having two days off, he came by boat.

MOVIE, MEAL, WALK

After registering at the Yates hotel he went to a movie, then had a meal, then went for a walk, a nightly custom.

He walked for about a half-hour, he said, when:

"All of a sudden I saw a light in the sky, then everything went black."

He was found lying on the sidewalk on Yates, and taken to hospital by the three men who found him.

NO RECOLLECTION

Jervis has no recollection of being hit, and said his wallet was not on him when found because he left it in Vancouver. He thought he might have been worrying too much about the new job in Vancouver.

He was grateful to the newspapers for helping to find out who he was, but "now I want to forget all about this and get back to the world."

Just Hours After Theft Trio Convicted in Court

Theft of an 18 h.p. motor from his parked boat and trailer on Goldstream Flats Wednesday night was reported to Colwood RCMP by Victoria lawyer Alan E. Bigelow yesterday morning.

Before noon, three men had appeared in Colwood court charged with theft of the motor, pleaded guilty and were remanded to July 8 for sentence.

Mr. Bigelow was driving up Island Wednesday when his trailer had a flat tire. He parked it beside the road until he could get back to it.

Late Wednesday evening a passing truck driver noticed three men hanging about the trailer. He noted the licence number of their car, and turned it in to RCMP.

When Mr. Bigelow reported theft of his motor, the police moved. Arrested were Joseph Jerome Arsenault, 1621 Island Highway, and William Edward Weir and Robert J. S. Saunders, both of 1601 Esquimalt. Their court appearance followed.

In city police court yesterday Howard Russell Peters, 506 Pendray, was charged with inducing a 20-year-old girl into

EARLY RANCHERS

Ranching near the Alberta foothills of the Rockies started in 1874 with importation of range cattle from the U.S.

No Parking By Potholes

Cars parked helter-skelter along the Sooke River road may be ticketed or impounded, RCMP have announced.

The district, especially by the potholes, is a favorite spot for weekend picnickers or campers, and last year RCMP found it necessary to ticket cars parked in such a way as to encroach on the road. The road must be kept clear for emergency runs by firefighters or ambulances.

'Stupid' Theft of Beer Brings 18-Month Term

Robert William Woodford, 27, of 2003 Cameron, was sent to jail for 18 months by Magistrate William Ostler yesterday, after pleading guilty to theft of beer from a liquor store.

Woodford was arrested for breaking into the Humboldt Street Store and stealing four cases of beer. Tourists, from their hotel room across the street, saw the incident.

"I didn't mean to steal the beer, your honor," Woodford said yesterday. "It was just a stupid, drunken thing to do."

"My wife told me I came home with a cut hand, and bandaged it. I must have cut it when I broke the store window. Then I went back and stole the beer."

Magistrate Ostler noted that alcohol was accused's trouble, but that he had a family and a good work record.

In view of these facts and accused's youth, he was sent to jail instead of to the penitentiary.

Biggest trout of the year is the 8½-pound brown, in left hand of Art Russell, 2890 Pt. Grey Road, Vancouver, who caught it recently in Cameron Lake with lake troll and worm. ## New Westminster Machine Flattens Vancouver, 21-12

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Okefies increased their inter-city lacrosse league lead to eight points Thursday night over the first period and scored six unanswered goals in the second period to move ahead, 10-1, by half time. It was 12-4 after three periods of play with 16 goals coming in the final session.

League-leading scorer Jack Bionda again led the New Westminster attack, scoring three goals and five assists to make his season's total 83 points, twice as many as the next nearest player.

Cliff Sepka counted six points on five goals and one assist, while four other New Westminster players had two goals. They were Murray Duncan, Doug McRory, Stan Cowie and Don Sepka. The other Okefies goals came from Bill Jobb, Harold Fox, Ken Oddy, Rudy Reisinger and Mario Crema.

Fred Usselman had four goals for the losers and Pete Black three. The other Vancouver goals came from Gord Mickle, Wayne Pecknold, Ron Hemmerling, John Coleman and Bob Parry.

A total of 38 minutes in penalties was called during the game. 24 minutes to Vancouver and 14 minutes to New Westminster. Four players, John Coleman and Bill Barbour of Vancouver and Jack Barclay and Rudy Reisinger of New Westminster, all received five-minute fighting penalties.

Rookie goalie Les Norman stopped a total of 27 shots in the New Westminster net while Keith Johnson and Stan Brown, who shared duties in the Vancouver cage, stopped 18 shots between them.

King Withdraws Controversial Car

What may be the final chapter in a season-long stock car racing controversy was written last night when car builder Grant King decided to withdraw his car from racing.

King's car has twice been disqualified from racing by Vancouver Island Track Racing Association officials because it did not meet official specifications. This time, VITRA has ruled that the steering wheel on the car must be changed.

"That was the straw that broke the camel's back," said King. "Unless they change their minds quickly, I'm going to take the engine out of it and put it in my pick-up truck."

Tugmen Tie Junior Rocks

Foul Bay Tugmen came on strong in the final half Thursday night at Stevenson Park to gain a 9-9 Senior "B" Lacrosse League draw with Junior Shamrocks.

Leading Foul Bay's scoring attack was forward Bob Showers who scored three goals. Lonnie Restall matched that effort for Shamrocks.

In a game at Nanaimo, Bill Russell scored four goals as Nanaimo Juniors won their first game of the season by defeating Victoria Jokers 7-4.

One of the strongest softball clubs assembled in Western Canada for several years will be on display this weekend at Central Park.

Vancouver Carlings, seventh-place finishers in the 1958 world tournament held at Minneapolis, will play four games against Victoria Senior Open League teams.

Farmer Construction and George Hotel, runners-up to Carlings for the B.C. title last season, will provide the local opposition.

Vancouver will play two games Saturday and two more Sunday. Saturday Carlings meet George at 2 p.m. and Farmers at 6:45. Sunday the order is reversed.

Two league games were played last night in a Section I game at Central Park. Navy downed Morrison's, 8-4, behind a clutch ninth inning relief stint by Mike Rye.

Over at Heywood Avenue Park, MacNutt's Grocery continued a recent tailspin by losing their third straight game, and fourth of the season, to Six Mile House.

Final score, in a comedy of walks, hits and errors, was 17-16 as MacNutt's rallied for four eighth-inning runs after falling far behind early in the game.

They Like New Westminster

Some Royals May Quit Hockey

By LARRY ROSE

Now that Victoria Cougars have acquired the services of 10 players owned by the former New Westminster Royals for the 1959-60 Western Hockey League season, the next matter at hand will be to see just how many of these athletes will report here.

Victoria also stands an excellent chance of obtaining a similar quota of players from Boston Bruins of the NHL who recently signed a working agreement with New Westminster.

These Boston chancellors must report where assigned. However, several New Westminster players, while also being under contract, will definitely pose a problem to the Victoria management.

It appears highly probable that of these 10 players, no more than seven—a conservative figure—will actually wear Victoria uniforms next season.

Four veteran performers with the New Westminster club, centre Max McNab, right-winger Arnie Schmautz, left-winger Hugh Barlow and defenceman Ron Matthews are seriously considering retiring.

Another doubtful is ancient, but robust, defenceman Pete Wright who was lured from retirement last season and had hinted he would not return to the hockey wars.

Of the former four, McNab has stated he definitely will not pack up to play hockey in another city and the same holds true with Matthews.

Like McNab, Barlow is employed by a New Westminster insurance firm and does not want to risk jeopardizing his future by playing hockey.

McNab has already been asked to retire from hockey by his employers.

Matthews works for a Royal City sporting goods outfit and it took a great deal of persuasion on the part of coach

Hal Laycoe to get him to play last season.

All three own homes in the New Westminster area and it appears fairly certain that they will not play in Victoria.

McNab, reaching the end of a brilliant professional career, scored 26 goals and added 32 assists last season for 58 points. Barlow, who got off to one of his fastest starts ever, collected 28 goals and 34 assists for 62 points.

Matthews has long been one of the WHL's outstanding defencemen. Last season he scored nine goals and assisted on 35 others for 44 points.

Another player who is considering remaining in New Westminster for business reasons is battling Arnie Schmautz. The fiery penalty-killing Schmautz will be 27 July 3, a young age as far as hockey players are concerned. But, after recently buying a new home and landing a job as a salesman, Schmautz feels he's had enough hockey.

Remaining players owned by the Royals, Arlo Goodwin, Art Jones, Reno Zanier, Gordie Fashoway and Fred Creighton will likely make the move to Victoria.

As for manager-coach Hal Laycoe, he's keeping mum on the move.

Forecast Not Good For Tonight's Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—The weatherman knocked out both heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson Thursday with a damp, foggy day. As a result, their world title bout may be heard on CB, 690 kc., or KOMO, 1000 kc., beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The forecast for today is not promising. Another warm, humid day is predicted with a possibility of late afternoon and evening thundershowers.

Promoter Bill Rosensohn whose efforts have been plagued by law suits, feuds with the champion's manager and uninspired workouts by the Swedish challenger, tried his best to take the postponement in stride.

"Who knows?" he said. "It might even help. I certainly would have sold very few seats today in the rain. If tomorrow comes up nice we might do a tremendous business. If I had to go today I would have been lucky to do $500,000."

Rosensohn said he had later report that Tuesday's announcement of a $450,000 advance sale. The promoter was told by New York State Athletic Commission to make refunds to anybody wanting their money. People still were buying tickets at the downtown office in mid-afternoon. The box office reported scattered refund requests.

In case of bad weather again today, it is not decided whether the fight would be set back again to Saturday or Monday.

"Both dates are clear at Yankee Stadium," said Rosensohn. "Let's not talk about more trouble until we come to it."

The fight will be in conflict with the usual Friday TV fight, originating in Madison Square Garden. Tiger Jones and Victor Zalzalar, an Argentine import, will be appearing for free on the nation's TV screens.

Rosensohn announced at the morning weigh-in that the fight definitely was on but scheduled an early afternoon press conference.

After several discussions, after several phone calls, the promoter moved up his decision and announced the postponement just as a heavy shower broke over the downtown area. The rain and the soggy condition of the infield at Yankee Stadium were given as the reasons for the earlier announcement.

Jim Thomson, Yankee Stadium superintendent, said the field was "quite muddy." Under the contract, Rosensohn is obligated to return the ball park to the Yankees as he found it. If the infield should be churned up so badly that new turf would be needed, it could be a $20,000 job.

The weigh-in almost got lost in the shuffle with the weather. Johansson, smiling confidently, scaled 196 pounds and Patterson, who appeared to be a little bored by the whole thing, weighed 182.

Relief Artist Face Wins Twelfth; Cleveland Holds Onto Top Spot

Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief ace, registered his 12th triumph this season and 17th in a row as the Pirates defeated San Francisco Giants 3-1 on Roman Mejias' two-run homer in the top of the 12th inning.

The defeat cost the Giants an opportunity to pick up ground on the National League leader, Milwaukee Braves, who dropped a 3-2 decision to St. Louis Cardinals.

Cleveland protected its slim

American League lead, nipping the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 on a pair of home runs by Tito Francona. The victory enabled the Indians to retain their one-game margin on the Chicago White Sox, who displaced the Orioles in second place. Baltimore now is a game and a half off the pace in third place.

Detroit, helped by Rocky Bridges' first major league grand slam homer, whipped Boston Red Sox 10-5 to snap a four-game losing streak.

The New York Yankees, helped by home runs by Elston Howard and Norm Siebern, downed Kansas City Athletics 5-4 but it took a clutch relief job by Ryne Duren to assure the victory.

The victory went to Duke Maas who hurled the first five innings.

Face, who is unbeaten since May 30, 1958, hurled three scoreless innings but had to turn back a Giant threat in the 12th. Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt singled and pinch hitter Felipe Alou walked to fill the bases with two out. Eddie Bressoud, who accounted for the Giants' run with a third inning homer, ended the game by raising a soft pop to the mound.

The defeat was charged to Eddie Fisher, the young right-hander brought up recently from Phoenix. Fisher took over after starter Stu Miller had bowed out for a pinch hitter in the 11th. Harvey Haddix started for the Pirates and left for a pinch hitter in the 10th after giving up four hits.

City Lady Golfer Reaches B.C. Final

VANCOUVER (CP)— Suzanne Foulds, a 19-year-old swinger who dusted off her clubs just two weeks ago after returning from school in the United States, Thursday moved into position for a possible double sweep in British Columbia women's golf.

The long-hitting Miss Foulds, from Vancouver Marine Drive, trimmed club-mate, Mrs. Irene McCracken, 4 and 3, Thursday to enter the final of the B.C. women's amateur championship.

Last Monday Miss Foulds won the provincial junior title for a second straight time. Her opponent in today's 36-hole final will be a former provincial junior champion, Mrs. David Naysmith of Victoria Gorge Vale, who as Shirley Fry won the junior title in 1952.

Mrs. Naysmith, 25, who took a few years out to have two children, reached the final with a 2 and 1 victory over Joyce Fairweather of Vancouver Point Grey.

Miss Foulds, who laid aside her golf last fall to attend school in Modesto, Calif., returned to form quickly after coming home.

Thursday she was out in even par for the first nine holes against Mrs. McCracken and was four up at the turn, a margin she never gave up.

Mrs. Naysmith was three over par in her outgoing round, but managed to stay a hole ahead of Miss Fairweather and the match ended on the 17th when Miss Fairweather went two over par.

The second nine was played in a heavy downpour that drenched the par 38-39 Capilano Golf Club course before the sun came out again in early afternoon.

Today's final gets under way at 9 a.m.

Kidd and Willey Battle for Crown

VANCOUVER (CP)— Joe Jeroski, 20-year-old shot-maker just out of the juniors who knocked out two Willingdon Cup players en route to the semi-finals, was defeated by defending champion Bob Kidd, two-time winner of the amateur, 2 and 1.

Kidd, a perennial Willingdon Cup representative, today meets Ron Willey, another top B.C. amateur, in the 36-hole medal-play final.

Willey defeated barrister Bob Plommer on the 20th hole in the other semi-final Thursday. All four finalists are from Vancouver.

Jeroski, disqualified from the event last year after he played an out-of-bounds all in an early match, defeated two of B.C.'s top amateurs, Doug Bajus and Johnny Johnston, in this tournament.

He got off to a bad start Thursday, allowing Kidd to go three up after five holes. He fought back and was only one down at the turn, but lost the 13th hole when Kidd sank a 20-foot putt for a birdie.

The game ended on the 17th after Jeroski hooked his drive into the trees and hit a tree again on his second shot.

Kidd was four under par for the 17 holes, Jeroski one under.

Willey won his match the hard way, going two up after 16 holes but losing his lead ended on the 17th when Miss Fairweather went two over par.

The two halves of the 19th hole and Plommer, tiring, hooked into the rough to give Willey the win.

No 'Plate' For Longden

TORONTO (CP)—Veteran jockey Johnny Longden will not be able to ride in next week's 'Queen's Plate', because Canadian tracks honor his suspension by a Chicago track.

Longden was suspended last Saturday for 10 days, running through to July 4, because the stewards at Chicago's Washington Park said he cut in too sharply down the back stretch while guiding Honey's Gem to victory in the Beverley Handicap.

Longden was to have ridden the western three-year-old Activator in next Tuesday's classic.

All Packed for Flying

Canadian Pacific Airlines is flying 200,000 British Columbia rainbow trout eggs from Vancouver to Athens, Greece. In the photo, J. G. (Jack) Terpening, Asst. Supervisor of Hatcheries for the Province, packs the future sports fish prior to loading aboard the aircraft, as CPA hostess Sarah Gurevitch, Vancouver, looks on.

Trout Eggs Airlifted To Greek Sportsmen

VANCOUVER—Fishermen the world over are prone to punch holes in the truth, but here's a true fish story.

Two years from now a lucky fly nimir, casting for speckled beauties in a sparkling stream in northern Greece, will hook a British Columbia rainbow trout and be able to astound his colleagues with a finny friend taken approximately 6,000 miles from its home stream.

Thursday more than 200,000 future reel busters, in fish egg form, flew to Athens via Canadian Pacific Airlines' polar route.

The eggs, only 24 days old, will arrive in Amsterdam, Holland, today for transshipment to the Greek ministry of industry in Athens. Following a developing period of approximately six months in a Greek hatchery, the trout "fry" will be released to ponds and streams in northern Greece.

This first egg shipment, which is a gift from the fish and game branch of British Columbia's department of recreation and conservation, is the commencement of a large-scale conservation and restocking program by the Greek government, said J. G. (Jack) Terpening, assistant supervisor of hatcheries for B.C.

The eggs, which were taken at the Beaver Lake egg collection station, are worth approximately $500. They were loaded aboard the CPA airliner in a special fish egg air shipment case developed by Terpening.

The case contains 50 pounds of ice supported by a wire screen. Ice-water thus flows over the egg trays and keeps the future trout at a constant temperature of 38 degrees.

Using this method, the eggs are kept in a state of partially suspended animation until they arrive, explained Terpening. When placed in water at a temperature of 50 degrees in the Greek hatcheries they will develop into small "fry" within a week.

"We expect we will be sending a second shipment to Greece within the next few months," said Terpening.

Columbia rainbow trout and be able to astound his colleagues with a finny friend taken approximately 6,000 miles from its home stream.

Thursday more than 200,000 future reel busters, in fish egg form, flew to Athens via Canadian Pacific Airlines' polar route.

The eggs, only 24 days old, will arrive in Amsterdam, Holland, today for transshipment to the Greek ministry of industry in Athens. Following a developing period of approximately six months in a Greek hatchery, the trout "fry" will be released to ponds and streams in northern Greece.

This first egg shipment, which is a gift from the fish and game branch of British Columbia's department of recreation and conservation, is the commencement of a large-scale conservation and restocking program by the Greek government, said J. G. (Jack) Terpening, assistant supervisor of hatcheries for B.C.

The eggs, which were taken at the Beaver Lake egg collection station, are worth approximately $500. They were loaded aboard the CPA airliner in a special fish egg air shipment case developed by Terpening.

The case contains 50 pounds of ice supported by a wire screen. Ice-water thus flows over the egg trays and keeps the future trout at a constant temperature of 38 degrees.

Using this method, the eggs are kept in a state of partially suspended animation until they arrive, explained Terpening. When placed in water at a temperature of 50 degrees in the Greek hatcheries they will develop into small "fry" within a week.

"We expect we will be sending a second shipment to Greece within the next few months," said Terpening.

"We expect we will be sending a second shipment to Greece within the next few months," said Terpening.

McColl to Defend Zone One Tiara

Thirty-six holes of medal golf constitute this year's Zone 1 golf championship, to be held at Uplands Sunday.

On hand to defend the title, won last year at Nanaimo, will be Bill McColl.

Pros entered include Bill Court, Art Donaldson and Norm Boden. City amateur champ Frank Scroggs is also among those entered and the junior set is represented by Bill Wakeham, Dick Munn and Doug Munro.

Following is the draw: 9:00 and 1:30—C. Reggie, D. Munro, E. Beauchemin, A. MacLeod. 9:00 and 1:30—V. Clarkson, A. Donaldson, F. Ranson, W. Court.

9:10 and 1:40—G. Pelletier, V. Painter, J. Evans, D. McLean. 9:20 and 1:50—F. Scroggs, W. McColl, W. Wakeham, M. Oit. 9:30 and 2:00—L. Kerr, A. Reside, B. Wakeham, N. Boden.

9:40 and 2:10—G. Cameron, W. Finley, D. Munn, W. Cameron. 9:50 and 2:20—G. Cameron, W. Finley, D. Munn, W. Cameron.

POST ENTRIES WILL BE ACCEPTED.

Fifty Nations Represented At Today's Seaway Opening

MONTREAL (CP)—Representatives of the industry, government and commerce of more than 50 nations are to be in the stands today when the St. Lawrence Seaway is officially opened by the Queen and President Eisenhower.

Canada, the United States, Britain, every Commonwealth country, every state in Europe, much of South America and parts of the Middle East and Asia will have someone there.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip were mobbed by shouted to newsmen: "You think we are still indifferent?"

MONTREAL (UPI)—A hastily-applied coat of paint was applied to part of the royal yacht Britannia yesterday, designed to hide the evidence of a royal boo-boo.

Wednesday, Prince Philip bumped the yacht against a wharf and scratched about 25 feet of paint above the water line.

MONTREAL (UPI)—City Councillor Fred Hanley's 63-piece band, who "just laid down their picks and shovels at 4 p.m.," serenaded Queen Elizabeth as she reached a point just one block distant from the hotel where a civic ball and banquet was being held in her honor.

Hanley boycotted the civic ball in order to throw one of his own. "This is to let the Queen know about my party," he said. The Queen reacted slightly with surprise when she heard the Italian workmen's band strike up, then she smiled warmly and Philip grinned.

MONTREAL (UPI)—The Queen spent part of an 11-minute visit to the Montreal Children's Hospital yesterday talking with a crippled girl who said she came from North Wales.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Pilot Horace Arcand, 53, piloted the Royal yacht Britannia up the St. Lawrence from Quebec City to Montreal and declared it's "the finest vessel I've ever handled."

"They treated me with every bit of respect and dignity. In fact, I would say they treated me like a king. Everyone on the ship was charming," he said.

Arcand did not meet the Queen but was presented with a sterling key chain and photo of the Britannia before he departed with the monarch's best wishes.

Montreal Goes Wild Over Queen

MONTREAL (CP)—The Queen and Prince Philip were caught in a wild, carefree, friendly crush Thursday.

Driving along the greystone canyon of Montreal's banking boulevard, famed St. James Street, the royal limousine was surrounded by a swarm of off-duty office workers.

It was the nearest thing to an overly exuberant mobbing the Queen has yet experienced in her Canadian tour.

TICKER TAPE

Thousands of office girls and clerks and dozens of bankers and brokers let loose with a spontaneous ticker-tape welcome.

Pushing, shoving, shouting, even touching the royal limousine and reaching for the royal consort, the office girls shrieked their greetings on narrow, bustling - draped St. James Street.

The royal car slowed to walking pace. Six scarlet-coated RCMP motorcycle outriders barely kept upright.

EXCITED PEOPLE

For a time, it appeared as if the royal automobile would have to halt to let the police clear a path through the mass of excited people.

It was a high point in a 29-mile morning and afternoon ride all over Montreal's big island area.

Police estimated that 500,000 people saw the Queen—maybe more. It was hard to figure out the crowds scattered along a winding, wearying route from the poor streets of east-end Montreal to the massive mountainside mansions of suburban Outremont.

DAY-LONG TOUR

The day-long tour started at 10 a.m. from the royal yacht Britannia.

There were nine functions on the Queen's crowded schedule, including a banquet and ball.

Goldfine Suffers Legal Setback

WASHINGTON — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine, gift-giving friend of former presidential assistant Sherman Adams, lost a round in his battle against contempt of Congress charges when a judge dismissed a technical petition.

Mayor's Choice Under Criticism

TORONTO (UPI)—Choice of the girl to present a bouquet to the Queen when she visits Toronto has been criticized. Girl is Linda, eight-year-old granddaughter of Mayor Nathan Phillips. Linda also presented flowers to Princess Margaret during her tour last July.

Pensioners

The Old-Age Pensioners' Association, No. 1, in the K of P Hall at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, July 2.

Husband's Coming Mrs. Hinds!

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Hinds of Victoria, and her children Karen, 6, and Janice, 4, will get the word any time now—the husband she hasn't seen since Dec. 26 may be home sooner than she thinks.

PO Bob Hinds 32, is in line for two weeks' leave when the royal yacht Britannia hits the Lakehead next week. Bob is planning to make it home before he is due back in the royal engine room at Shediac, N.B.

"I hope to go back to barracks on the west coast," said the chunky sailor at a press conference here. "That should make the missus very happy. How did I get aboard the royal yacht? I guess I just live right." Also serving aboard Britannia is Harry Podwysoczl, of Duncan.

Bette Comes Alive

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—People want live entertainment, says Bette Davis, and she and husband Gary Merrill are going to give it to them.

"Five years ago, we were all intrigued by that little box in the living room," the actress said of TV. "But the novelty has dimmed. People have had enough of sitting around the house; they want to get out. They're tired of staring at the four walls."
She and Gary are going to provide some people with an excuse to leave their television sets. Starting in October, they will make a 10-week tour in readings from the works of Carl Sandburg. They'll play mostly one-night stands at college towns and in auditoriums of the bigger U.S. cities.

As with all Davis projects, she is embarking on it with vast enthusiasm. This is the first time she has toured, though she recalls acting in a few plays out of New York in her pre-movie days. "I firmly believe that the movies have priced themselves out of the market," she said. "Prices have been hiked up and up until movie entertainment is out of the reach of a great number of the population. People no longer have the movie habit."

"I think it would be a smart move for the industry to drop its admission charge to 50 cents for a year or two. Then people would get back in the habit of going to films, and the movie business would be bigger than ever."

JIM BISHOP: REPORTER

The First Annual Poll for the Worst Actor is over. The public which gets no opportunity to vote for the best in entertainment, sent its nominations for the worst with a great deal of enthusiasm. Instead of awarding Oscars, I think that I will send a celluloid cigaret lighter, if I can find a celluloid cigaret lighter.

There were 10 categories. The honors for Worst Actor were won, after a bitter struggle, by Mr. Tab Hunter. In second place was that mountain of muscle, Rock Hudson, who beat out Errol Flynn and John Wayne, tied for third place.

Most Abysmal
Among the actresses, Marilyn Monroe strutted off with the Most Abysmal title. Followed at a distance by Elizabeth Taylor and Kim Novak. A poll such as this is full of surprises, and I cannot understand how Zsa Zsa Gabor got only 13 votes. For all I know, the 13 may have been cast by George Sanders.

Least Inspiring
The Least Inspiring Movie was found to be Gigi. In second place was Separate Tables. In third, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof. I can account for this only by figuring that many of you have not endured the exquisite agonies of Bus Stop and Peyton Place.

Weakest of Lot
The Dregs of Television Acting was won by that old Smithfield, Milton Berle, who wasn't competing. Second place goes to Broderick Crawford, who grunts expressively. Jack Paar is in third place, and I hope you realize what this is going to do to Leaky Jack.

The ladies on television have a difficult time, what with melting makeup and quick changes. Still, Gale Storm finished strong as the weakest of the lot, with Martha Raye and Dinah Shore trailing.

What's Radio?
In the field of radio—and, by the way, what's radio?—low acting laurels go to Arthur Godfrey who, as I recall, never tried to act except in a commercial. He beat out Jack Benny and Peter Lind Hayes.

Least Appealing
It would appear that the least appealing of the radio shows are almost all daytime serials. The winner is Helen Trent. Directly behind Miss Trent was Ma Perkins and in third place was True Story. If my mother-in-law Maggy was alive, she'd put the Widow's Curse on me for even writing this. They were her favorites. She cried over them every day.

The fight for Worst Singer was bitter, but the award of an atomizer of Lye Throat Spray goes to Elvis Presley, who beat Eddie Fisher four to three. In third place is Ricky Nelson.

Satchmo Rallies Slightly After Receiving Oxygen

SPOLETO, Italy (UPI)—Trumpeter Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong rallied slightly last night in his fight against bronchial pneumonia and heart disturbances. He was receiving oxygen by tube.

Dr. Alexander Schiff, Armstrong's physician, and two Italian doctors, announced that the 59-year-old jazz musician is "suffering from acute pulmonary disease on top of chronic emphysema, the latter due to his blowing a trumpet for 45 years." Emphysema is a state of swelling produced by gas or air in any tissue of the body, or a bloating.

End Titles, Snobbery, Demands Socialist MP

LONDON (Reuters) — A Scottish Socialist MP Thursday called for the abolition of British titles to end "the snobbery which goes with them." Emrys Hughes announced he would ask the government to introduce legislation for abolishing the use of titles.

Land Expropriated

Castro Acts To Split Up 'Beef Belt'

HAVANA (UPI)—The revolutionary government yesterday expropriated 2,370,000 acres of grazing lands in Camaguey Province, Cuba's so-called "beef belt."

In Brief

HOPE, B.C.—Indian chiefs, headmen and councillors from the B.C. Interior meet here Sunday to discuss changes in federal Indian Act and a brief to the federal government.

TOKYO—Dikes protecting Canton have held firm, sparing the city from ravages of one of south China's worst floods.

BAGHDAD, Iraq—Iraq's army has been completely re-equipped with new weapons, including nuclear arms, says President of the People's Court Col. Fadhil Abbas Mahdawi, cousin of Premier Karim Kassam.

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower vetoed a bill that would have cut wheat acreage and increased price supports for that commodity.

Under direct orders from Prime Minister Fidel Castro, to break up large landed estates in the area, rural guard units served expropriation notices on the ranchers. Each rancher is allowed to retain 333 acres.

The Camaguey expropriations were the first to be carried out on a large scale since enactment of the controversial Agrarian reform law several weeks ago.

Some 400 ranches owned by 131 persons were affected in yesterday's action.

Camaguey cattle ranchers and Pinar Del Rio province tobacco growers have led a campaign to press for modification of the Agrarian reform law.

Castro charged that cattle interests were trying to block the government with a program designed to force up beef prices, and ordered their lands expropriated immediately.

The expropriated lands will be used to establish cattle co-operatives which will enable Cuba to export beef within five years, Castro said.

Irish Stamp Firm Lured Canadians

DUBLIN (CP)—Canadians are reported among the investors in an international stamp-dealing firm whose four directors are being remanded from week to week while awaiting trial on fraud charges.

Vienna-born Dr. Paul Singer, 48, managing director of the Shanahan Stamp Auctions Ltd.; his wife, Irma, 33; Jerome Shanahan, 60, chairman of the firm, and his son, Arthur, 33, all are charged with conspiracy to cheat and defraud in connection with auctions of stamps at Don Laoghaire.

Trio Tops at Mount Douglas

Be a queen in your kitchen—while keeping his budget in mind!

Price tags may mislead. Don't be fooled by phony "bargains." They may be discontinued lines. This means service and repairs may be costly, difficult, even impossible.

With Frigidaire products—dependability of construction and service is doubly assured. Every Frigidaire product is backed by two great names—Frigidaire and General Motors.

Get a complete demonstration. What size of refrigerator do you need? What features do you want? Your Frigidaire Dealer will be happy to show you all the models, and the many exclusive Frigidaire features.

No frost ever
You'll really appreciate frost-proof freezing. No frost is formed at all. That means you don't have the messy time-taking job of defrosting to do. You'll never again have to tug at snowed-over food packages—chip away at frozen-in ice trays.

Ice Cubes—Instantly
You can now get ice cubes without struggling. Just take an ice cube tray, place it in the Flip-Quick Ejector, flip the lever, and out drop the cubes, into the Instant Ice Server. The cubes won't stick together. You can open the freezer door any time and take out a handful.

Keep vegetables crisp
The exclusive giant "picture window" hydrator keeps fruit and vegetables crisp and fresh—and you can see them at a glance!

No more stooping
Just tap your toe on a floor level pedal to open the door to that wonderful frozen storehouse of your very own.

No searching—no reaching
You have a choice of Frigidaire interior features designed with your convenience in mind. Exclusive Roll-to-You shelves and freezer baskets bring food to you at a finger's touch. Door shelves are spacious. And in one extra deep shelf, you can even store 1½ gallon containers without squeezing. There are individual slide-out storage drawers for fresh eggs—a porcelain enamel hydrator (as well as the "picture window" hydrator) and a Meat Tender that practically hands you the meat and cold cuts.

Looks are important
You'll love the new Lacerwork Styling of the '59 Frigidaire. Panels of delicate filigree design have been added to all the new Frigidaire refrigerators. We're very proud of this design, and no wonder! Frigidaire "Sheer Look" appliances have been acclaimed among the best-designed products of modern times!

Dazzling colors
You have a choice of five exciting colors on many models, as well as gleaming Snowcrest White.

'Water Cops' To Hand Out Speed Tickets

SEATTLE (AP) — The "water cops" who patrol Seattle's 209 miles of shoreline soon will be handing out tickets for speeding and negligent driving, just like their land-based confederates.

The city council's new harbor code gives the officers this power and provides a maximum fine of $500 or six months in jail for offenders.

Big snag: Police boats are no match for modern high-powered speedboats.

'Tidal' Wave Whips Harbor

CHEMAINUS—A chief loader narrowly escaped being crushed, a boat mooring float was wrecked and a score of small craft smashed when a $750,000 barge loaded with 3,500 tons of coal slag suddenly turned turtle here, about 1.30 p.m. yesterday.

No one was injured in the spectacular accident, but loading foreman Jack Hoy, Vancouver, only escaped being crushed between the overturning barge and the Western Forest Products wharf by leaping into the water and swimming and wading 50 feet to shore.

He was on a float alongside the barge when it suddenly rolled over "within seconds of the time it first started to list."

Boat owner Tom Twentyman of Chemainus working at a nearby wharf also had to "leap for his life" as inch and a half large cables snapped and whiplashed over small boat moorings.

The 200 by 60-foot self-unloading barge, Straits Conveyor, was being loaded with the coal slag, hitherto a waste product, for the Lafarge Cement Co. plant at Butli Island near Vancouver.

The company plans to ship the slag from a number of abandoned Island coal mines. There is reported to be a two or three-year supply available.

Damage in yesterday's accident was still being tallied up last night, but at least 15 small craft from 12 to 20 feet in length, were damaged, wrecked or sunk when the barge load of coal plunged into the harbor setting up a "tidal" wave.

Raced Across Bay

Witnesses said an 18-foot crest raced across the bay off shore from the barge. But most of the damage was caused by a 12-foot crest that plowed inshore seconds after the giant barge rolled over and coal slag shot into the water.

The shoreward wave broke up the 250-foot small boat float alongside the loading wharf and sent boats flying into the air.

Two 15-foot craft were tossed 40 feet up on land from the water line.

One small boat had the bow stem completely torn out, another was "wrapped" around the float piling. A new craft just launched two weeks ago was a total loss.

Estimates of damage ran into the thousands, but exact figure was lacking as authorities tried to find the owners of the boats and identify the wrecked, sunk or damaged craft. Many of the craft belonged to Chemainus Rod and Gun Club members.

Towing company official Jan McLeod said last night the barge had often carried 3,600 tons of lime rock, but the coal slag was bulkier and therefore the load had a higher centre of gravity. He said it was the first time Hoy, a cement company employee, had worked with the particular material.

The overturned vessel was secured with lines last night and workmen were welding cleats on the exposed surface so tugs could tow it to the nearest beach today. It is then planned to use the cleats for grips and turn the barge over with a derrick.

Police blocked off the wharf area last night because it was felt the barge might suddenly right itself, setting up another trail of possible damage.

Towing company salvage boss George Unwin said water-tight compartments on the barge might cause her to right suddenly.

The company is also faced with the task of dredging out the small mountain of slag dumped into the 20-foot depth of the harbor and now blocking off vessels from loading at the wharf.

The coal slag is loaded by means of a 100-foot long tramway belt loaded by trucks shuttling from Nanaimo. Four days had been spent loading the barge when it suddenly rolled over.

Impaired Victorian Fined $150

DUNCAN — John H. Murphy, 30, of Victoria, was fined $150 and had his drivers' licence suspended for 60 days yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Police said he was picked up the night before after being observed to almost drive into a ditch north of town.

Law Rally

More Pay Asked For B.C. Jurors

NANAIMO — Four of five resolutions presented at the joint convention of the B.C. Law Society and B.C. Division of the Canadian Bar Association were approved at yesterday's session.

The convention felt that the present court registry fees dealing with bills of sales and related matters were too high, and a request will now go to the government asking for a reduction in these fees.

The society also passed a resolution calling for the attorney-general's department to furnish all lay magistrates with the latest editions of the criminal code and criminal code procedure manual.

This was suggested because of difficulties encountered in some remote courts, where a lay magistrate is not up to date on new laws or amendments.

The attorney-general will be asked by the society to continue his program of appointing legally trained magistrates wherever possible. In recent months several new magistrates have been appointed throughout the province.

The fourth resolution asked that jurors and witnesses in civil and criminal trials be paid more.

Recreation Chief Opens Nanaimo Law Convention

NANAIMO — The joint convention of the B.C. Law Society and B.C. division of the Canadian Bar Association was formally opened by Earl C. Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation.

Delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor Pele Maffeo, Walter S. Owen, Vancouver president of the Canadian Bar Association said that law yers play a great part in the community and that they render the greatest public service of any profession.

Mr. Owen, who has travelled approximately 78,000 miles throughout the world since taking office stated that the Canadian Bar Association is one of the most highly respected law groups in the world.

'Shopping' Soldier Sentenced

DUNCAN — A private with the Princess Patricia's who was captured by police last week in a woman's apparel shop, was placed on 12-month's probation yesterday.

Gerald Vernon Cawthorpe was arrested June 17 in the Fashion Circle, 126 Station, when a resident in the area called police after seeing him on the roof.

Loggers Support Award Rejection

COURTENAY — Latest balloting in the Courtenay area of the International Woodworkers' of America dispute with the forest industry shows that 92 per cent of local loggers favor rejection of a conciliation board award.

The palace of Holyroodhouse, official residence of the Queen when in Edinburgh, began as a guest-house for an abbot in 1128.

Two Lawyers Disbarred After 148 Complaints

NANAIMO — A report submitted to the B.C. Law Society by J. G. A. Hutcheson, Vancouver, chairman of the discipline committee, showed that 148 complaints were received of unethical practice. Of the 148 complaints, 107 were unfounded, he said. 23 resulted from delays on the part of the member, seven professional misconduct.

Lived 'Over There,' He Said

Tiny Dynamo Police Guest

City police charge office had a guest for almost 2½ hours yesterday — a three-year-old dynamo named Keith.

Keith was found on Wharf Street at 12:30 p.m. and brought to the station.

He told Sgt. Tom Bannister his name was Keith, his mother's name was "Mum," his father's name was "Dad," and he lived "over there" — pointing about southeast by east.

Later he added that he had a brother named David, who went to school "over there" — pointing northeast by east.

At 2:55 p.m. all questions were answered. Mrs. E. W. Fletcher, 169 Joseph, in Fairfield, telephoned to ask if they had any report of a stray youngster. It was her youngest, all right.

Keith has four brothers, but prefers to play alone. His mother still doesn't know how he made it all the way to Wharf Street. He was missed at lunch time, and his mother and brothers spent some time looking before calling police.

He'll play under close supervision for a while.

Not for Month or More

Market to Be Demolished Despite Stiff Opposition

We're Liable Alderman Points Out

Over determined opposition, city council voted yesterday to go ahead with demolition of the public market building and construction of a parking lot in its place.

But it won't be torn down immediately, perhaps not for a month or more. Before the demolition contract can be signed, council must pass a bylaw providing for the expenditure, and ratification of the bylaw will take two meetings.

Margaret Peterson, president of the Society for the Preservation of the Public Market, told council that tearing it down would be a tragedy and a fiasco.

PAINT AND VISION

With paint and vision, she said, the city could have a world-famous market which would draw tourists galore, give mothers a place to buy healthy food for their children (as opposed to "chemically grown and processed" foods) and provide beauty and an opportunity for aesthetic expression.

Miss Peterson said a revitalized market should bring the city a net income of $12,000 a year.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow asked if Miss Peterson was a city taxpayer.

AN ARTIST

No, she said, she was an artist, and an artist was a holy man or holy woman and not supposed to have money.

"I'm sorry," said Ald. Edgelow, "I didn't want to embarrass you."

"I'm not embarrassed. I'm proud of it. Now sit down and I'll tell you more!" Miss Peterson told him.

Ald. Edgelow led off the council debate, holding that council should be guided by the advice of the fire marshal who found the building a fire hazard and the city engineer and his department who found it unsafe.

HORRIBLE ERROR

Either council would have to go along with that advice, he said, or "we have made one horrible error in moving the fire department."

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot, who later voted with Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. Elmer McEwen against going ahead with demolition, proposed letting the voters decide next December whether the building should be left standing and $56,000 spent on it to put it in shape for occupancy as a public market.

COLLECTIVELY LIABLE

Ald. Austin Curtis said council had been advised by the city engineer the building was unsafe, and "we are all individually and collectively liable if anything happens now. I don't wish to accept that responsibility."

"I can't see how council can pull it down when we have a letter from an outside firm stating that it is structurally strong," said Ald. Mooney. (He referred to a letter from Elliott Totty, former assistant chief architect for the provincial government, to a real estate firm which wanted a lease on the firehall for a client.)

WHY SUCH A HURRY?

"Why is there such a hurry?" he demanded. "Is something being covered up?" Mayor Scurrah had indicated the property might be sold, he said, and he wondered if something was happening that council did not know about.

Fluoride Vote Set

Drive Fate Today

Decision on whether to go ahead with an information program aimed at explaining advantages of fluoridation of the Greater Victoria water supply is likely to be made at a meeting today of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce public affairs committee.

The committee is expected to pass a resolution urging chamber directors to authorize a public education program and an official approach to Greater Victoria municipal councils.

The chamber's job would be to arouse public demand for December plebiscites in the four Victoria area municipalities and to lay benefits of fluoridation before the people.

Civic Welcome to Queen

Just Brass — No Time For People

Royal visit arrangements made above the civic level won't allow time for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to talk to people at the civic welcome July 17 at Beacon Hill, Ald. Austin Curtis said yesterday.

Only the mayor and reeves will be present in the 10-minute ceremony.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot had suggested that good citizens chosen by a centennial committee last year should be presented, and asked if accommodation had been provided for war veterans to line up so the Queen could inspect them.

Ald. Curtis, chairman of the civic royal visit committee, said the committee had been informed by the deputy provincial secretary that it was concerned with only two occasions: the civic reception and the Queen's visit to youth groups at Clover Point.

In the 10 minutes allotted to the civic ceremony, he said, it would be impossible for Her Majesty to stop and talk to anyone.

The committee had invited all war veterans attending the ceremony to wear their medals, and they would be given a prominent place so they could be seen.

LITTLE WORRIED Special accommodation was being provided for 500 senior citizens, but, Ald. Curtis said, he was a little worried about how they were going to get to it, with automobile transportation cut off in the area.

Ald. Proudfoot saw some hope, however, in reports that the Queen had been ignoring protocol.

If aldermen were going to run over to the Beacon Hill soccer field for the ensuing military ceremonies—"I hope you hold your wives' hands"—perhaps it could be arranged that the Queen would stop and talk to people for a few minutes while they were running.

"This needs a little study," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said. "It seems from what I have read to be a good idea, but a lot of people feel the water already has all the taste taken out of it."

"All we are doing is voting to put it to the people," Ald. M. H. Mooney assured him.

"We are endorsing fluoridation if we vote for the recommendation," Ald. Elmer McEwen held.

"No, we're not," said Ald. Edgelow, and Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell added, "No, no."

Ald. McEwen proposed referring the matter to the intermunicipal committee, but Ald. Austin Curtis said city council could always change its mind if other municipalities in Greater Victoria were not in favor of referendums.

As far as fluoridation was concerned, that ended the debate, because the brief interval before the vote was occupied with an argument between Acting Mayor Dowell and Ald. McEwen that sent the alderman stalking toward the door.

Ald. McEwen tried to say something more about fluoridation but was interrupted by other aldermen and then asked by the acting mayor to get to the point.

In that case, if he wasn't going to be allowed to say what he had to say, he might as well withdraw from council, said Ald. McEwen.

He headed for the door, but was intercepted by Ald. Edgelow and persuaded to return to his seat.

The acting mayor and Ald. D. J. Proudfoot later apologized for any seeming rudeness.

Aged Bishop's Opinion

World No Wreck, Just Unfinished

By TERRY HAMMOND

A 96-year-old Methodist bishop from New York, who looks 65 and talks like a man in his prime, said in an interview here yesterday "the world is not a wreck—it is just a piece of unfinished business."

Bishop Herbert Welch, senior bishop of the Methodist Church in the United States, is here on holiday with his two daughters.

LOOKING UP

"Christianity," he said in a warm, vibrant voice which once guided the scholastic destinies of 1,000 university students when he was president of Ohio Wesleyan University, "is looking up."

"I always think of that old saying that when a man is flat on his back there is no place to look but up."

"We are going ahead for two reasons," he said thoughtfully.

OTHER NATIONS

"The first is that the world has a sense of responsibility which it never had before. Men are responsible for other nations. Nations are responsible for other nations."

"The second reason is the emergence of the common man and the growth of democracy."

"I think the common people are better than their leaders."

DOESN'T AGREE

The distinguished churchman does not agree with clerics who look to a day when all Christian faiths will worship "under a single roof."

"Why should they?" he asks.

"I don't think that this packing of everything into one box is the natural order of things. In nature every tree has its branches."

MANY FAITHS

"The growth of many faiths is not a disaster—it is a product of a variety of tastes—of differences in education."

He believes that the people behind the Iron Curtain are "struggling in a blind way towards democracy."

The bishop smiled when a reporter asked him for his formula for old age.

"I have what I call Welch's Quadrilateral. It is a practical program."

"Moderation in work when circumstances permit—prohibition of worry—a little play along the way and a firm trust in God."

Garage Loot Recovered

Saanich police reported last night they had recovered an estimated $2,000 in hand and power tools stolen from the Parkdale Service Station, 3415 Douglas, overnight Monday.

"They said the tools were found 'in a strawberry patch' off Oldfield Road, about six miles from the burglary, where they had apparently been dumped by the thieves. A 1958 station wagon, taken from the service station at the same time, was also recovered.

Police said the tools were accounted for 'down to the last screwdriver.'

An arrest in the case was expected shortly, they said.

Perrault Suggests

It May Be Time For Aid to Island

By TERRY HAMMOND

B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault suggested last night that it may be time for the federal government to begin subsidizing Vancouver Island industry and CPR ferry service between here and the mainland.

He said during a rally at Liberal headquarters here that a ferry subsidy would not be a "handout" because it would be a great boon to the tourist trade which brings many dollars to the local economy.

Industrial subsidy would be in the form of a reduction in freight rates between here and the mainland to give local industry a better bargaining position against competition.

He said that $5,500,000 is given annually as a federal subsidy to CNR ferries in the Maritimes, and that if the subsidy principle is good enough for the Maritimes it's good enough for Vancouver Island.

He didn't say subsidies are needed here, but he suggested that if the straits are considered a trade barrier, local boards of trade should get together and present their problem to the federal government.

He approved of the principle of the grants being made, but said the subsidies might not be as much as those given in the Maritimes because wage standards are higher here.

He said he told the man, "We'll let you know."

Mr. Perrault told a Liberal rally in Victoria that the premier is "trying to create an aura of good feeling" among taxpayers by telling them B.C. will be free of debt when the bonds are burned.

Acid test to the disappearing debt theme, he said, would be newspaper headlines of drastic tax reductions announced the day after the bonfire.

Sacred Slogans Ready

Social Credit slogan in the next election will be "Performance Counts — Vote Social Credit," Premier Bennett said yesterday.

"Wherever a Social Credit government was once elected it has never been defeated," the premier boasted. "In Alberta it has won eight elections and in British Columbia three," he observed.

"Once people get a taste of Social Credit they don't want to go socialist or go back to the old line parties."

There will be no letter carrier delivery and no rural mail delivery.

Postmen Get July 1 Off

Victoria postmaster R. F. Reid announced yesterday that postal carriers will get a holiday July 1 and that other post office functions will be sharply curtailed.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: Seven years ago I met a man through the legal department where I worked. He had been in prison and told me all about it. I had confidence in him and knew he'd never again break the law.

We married after a two-year courtship. He has an excellent position and I'm very proud of him.

Last year we bought a beautiful little home and took an 11-year-old boy to live with us. The child is a distant relative who was left homeless when his widowed mother passed away. Both my husband and I love this child as if he were born to us.

Three weeks ago the boy came home from school in tears. Someone said to him "You can't be much good. Your father is a jail-bird." Now the boy doesn't want to return to this school in the fall.

Should we sell our lovely home and move elsewhere?

I've Been Brooding

Dear Ann: I've been brooding about this and decided to write to you and get your views.

My husband didn't buy me anything on Mother's Day. We have four children under five years of age. Don't you think it would have been nice if he had bought me a little something in their name? After all they are too young to know about such things.

I felt very bad when I went to his mother's house for dinner and saw the lovely flowers he had sent her. And then when she showed me the

Shock of My Life

Dear Ann: My girl and I plan to get married in September. I talked to her folks about the wedding last night and I got the shock of my life. People of their nationality run weddings different from Americans. They tell me I have to pay for everything.

I don't have the money to put on a wedding and I wouldn't think of asking my folks to pay for it. I'm 23 and have some money saved, but it's for furniture and a week's honeymoon. I still owe on my car and the rings and I don't see how I can manage the cost of a wedding too. What do you suggest? —RALPH.

Dear Ralph: Tell your future father-in-law that since you

BATHING BEAUTIES. Accent on the feminine sums up the new swim suits. The favored colors—apricot, orange, turquoise, lemon and gold—are designed, like no others, to accent tanned skin. Either crisp or clinging, fabrics offer the most in the way of accent to waterside decor.

Types narrow down to four: the two-piece, the sheath, boy shorts with camisole tops, and the skirted dressmaker. Each conspires, of course, to accent the figure, but each in a different way. To choose the one with the flattering accent for your figure, be guided by these advice:

You require an hour-glass middle and good legs to wear a two-piece, and a near perfect figure to wear a sheath. While boy shorts are generally becoming, the dressmaker suit is the best minimizer for all-around figure problems.

What about a Bikini? You just know the answer—a flawless figure and a private swimmin' hole.

Do you know in detail what lines in clothing enhance your good points and play down the not-so-good? The right lines do both and so make a fine finger of a woman! Did we make a mistake by taking him to live with us? Both my husband and I are considering giving the child up to save him future humiliation. Please advise us.—NO NAME, OF COURSE.

Dear No Name: Don't move, and don't give up the boy. The love you give him outweighs the small, cruel insults.

If you haven't sat down with this youngster and explained in detail the past history of his step-father, by all means do so. Point out that he has paid his debt to society and he deserves credit for succeeding in spite of a bad beginning.

Moving will solve nothing. Unfortunately, your husband will take this past with him—forever. In the most remote corner of the globe someone who knew him "when" could pop up. His record is part of his life—so be realistic and stop running. Learn how to live with it.

new set of dishes, also from him, I had all I could do to keep from bursting out in tears.

On the way home I brought up the subject and said I was hurt. He said, "Why should I buy YOU anything for Mother's Day—you aren't my mother. You're my wife." Is he right?—LEFT OUT.

Dear Left Out: Of course you aren't his mother, but you're the mother of his four children. This is reason enough to be remembered with a small gift on Mother's Day.

live in America you are living on the American plan. In this country the bride's folks pay for the wedding.

If he can't afford much, explain you'll settle for the kind of wedding that fits his purse.

'Canada' Sorority Convention Theme

dent, Cincinnati; Mrs. Leland F. Leland, first vice-president, Minneapolis; Mrs. Marshall J. Vatcher, treasurer, Downey, Calif.; and Mrs. Leland M. Allen, secretary, Montgomery, Alabama. The convention will continue until next Tuesday with 350 delegates attending.—(Colonist photo.)

MISS MAWDSLEY

Second Year Time Enough For Rushing

With few notes but a lot of experience, ex-Dean of Women at UBC, Dorothy Mawdsley addressed the gathering at the opening banquet last night of the Alpha Omicron Phi Sorority convention.

Miss Mawdsley, not a sorority sister herself, stressed that rushing girls for membership in sorority life should be done in their second year "when they're more or less mature and still in school."

She speaks with 32 years of teaching to her credit at UBC, except for a few years at King Edward High School in Vancouver.

English is her subject and she feels women are more proficient in the language than men.

The talk to the 350 delegates at the convention last night was by way of Miss Mawdsley's swan song.

She retired last month from UBC after 19 years as Dean of Women.

Her future includes quiet living on Ocean Boulevard out in Sooke, a trip to California in the winter and pleasant conversation with her two associates Miss Margery Leeming of Victoria and Mrs. Peggy Macfarland of Victoria College.

'Half a Cake ...'

Half a cake is better than none.

At this week's annual St. Mary's Parish Guild garden party, Mrs. W. Arthur and Mrs. W. Barraclough both correctly guessed the weight (seven pounds and a few ounces) of an iced fruit cake in a contest. Each took half home.

The affair was successful on two counts, the sunny weather and the receipts which totalled $800.

It was held in the garden of the rector's home, Canon Hywel Jones and Mrs. Jones on Uplands Road.

Mrs. Maurice W. Turner, who opened the party, and her husband, Col. M. W. Turner, donated as a prize a leather camel stool from Egypt. It was won by Mrs. D. C. S. Abbas.

President of the guild is Mrs. Thomas B. Bird and general conveners, Mrs. H. S. Beckton and Mrs. W. Redford.

The following were conveners: Mrs. H. A. Brown and Mrs. I. Douglas, tea; Mrs. D. C. F. MacArthur, home-cooking; Mrs. E. E. Lord, take-home supper; Mrs. C. W. Duck, candy; Mrs. A. Bigelow, aprons; Mrs. M. B. Foster, woollens; Mrs. H. S. Hughes, linens; Mrs. A. Blyth, superfluities; Mrs. E. Ingledew, garden; Mrs. C. J. Bunbury, books. At the gate were Mrs. W. J. V. Church, Mrs. Dudley Green, Mrs. E. H. W. Elkington, Mrs. A. C. Garner, Mrs. A. T. Cowley.

Big Beauty Likes Short Men

No Handicap To Be Short

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"And what's wrong with short men?" demanded Julie Newmar, the Hollywood-to-Broadway-to-Hollywood beauty of amazon proportions.

I said meekly that it might be troublesome to dance with a man no higher than her Adam's apple.

"Pooh!" she said. "Dancing is just one thing to do on a date. I like to do lots of things—to play tennis, to drive. But most of all I like to talk. And I find short men very interesting." How so?

"They have a great deal more drive than other men. They are aggressive—they have to be because of their size. When a short man meets me, he is apt to throw his arms around me and give me a kiss."

"Now a tall man, that is different. He is liable to grin and say, 'Hiya honey.' A tall man is confident; he seldom gets in fights. But he can also be dull."

"The medium-sized man—he is the mystery. A girl has got to watch out for him."

Julie, who is five-foot-10, is superbly cast in the film version of L'il Abner as Stuppin' Jones, which she did on Broadway. A Los Angeles girl who once danced in films—"Gwen Verdon and I doubled for all the stars"—she currently is on leave from Marriage go Round. In it she plays a body beautiful who seeks Charles Boyer as father for a perfect child.

Indeed, it is hard to determine where the roles let off and Julie begins. She is inclined to utter some uninhibited things.

Artist's Girl Follows In Mother's Footsteps

Wendy Packard, following in the footsteps of her mother, well-known Victoria artist, Mrs. Peggy Walton Packard, took the art prize at yesterday's junior school prize giving at St. Margaret's School.

The 50th annual ceremony was held at the school and prizes were presented by Miss L. B. Maxwell, a former teacher at Victoria High School, who has been teaching in Mexico.

Some 300 parents watched as top students in each of the six forms were awarded book prizes and awards for athletic or cultural achievements.

Form prizes went to Jill Paver, Heather McCubbin, Charlotte Hick, Angela Park, Faith Graham, Brenda Foley, Misses R. Kilgour, D. Warner, Elizabeth Butler and Katherine Kintoff. For excellent progress in music, awards went to Lynne Bonnell and Patricia Puhach. Leading student at St. Margaret's School, Dana Thompson, received the Molson cup on her graduation last night.

Prizes in English literature were awarded to Miss Rosemary Kilgour and in chemistry to Miss Diana Warner.

Miss Kilgour was designated as "the girl who in her senior year has given the most of herself to the school." She received the Robertson silver.

Matriculation prizes and form prizes for excellence and proficiency were received by

Now's the Time To Butter Up Your Family

By LOUISE MOORE

No time like the present to butter up the family—and we do mean butter, one of our finest dairy foods. Of course we don't mean butter you spread on both sides but for goodness sake, don't be stingy when you do butter a slice.

When the youngsters dash in from play with—"please mom, may I have a slice of bread and butter"—get busy with the butter spreader for he is merely asking for some extra energy to continue play.

Butter is an excellent food for anyone and one of our oldest foods, having been used two thousand years before the Christian era.

NO SUBSTITUTE

To our way of thinking, there is no substitute for butter in our everyday cookery. Rich buttery cookies that fairly melt in your mouth—how quickly they disappear from the cookie crock, a lush butter-rich layer cake to serve with those fresh big strawberries and cream or even an old fashioned bread and butter pudding—aren't they your favorites and aren't they good?

Then when it comes to making sauces, smooth, rich, glossy and flavorful—butter does the trick along with the blending and cooking of the roux—a regular ritual with a knowing chef.

UNTIL DRY

A roux is merely a blending of butter and flour in equal proportion, cooked very slowly over a low heat until it bubbles and cooks almost until dry. Then you stir in the liquid which may be chicken or meat stock, milk or cream depending on the sauce's use. With the addition of such things as chopped parsley, chives, or other herbs, grated cheese, chopped olives, wine, egg yolks, etc., the character of the sauce is changed entirely for use in many ways.

For a medium cream sauce use 2 tbsp. flour, 2 tbsp. butter to 1 cup milk or part milk and cream plus seasoning of salt, pepper and a dash paprika. Onion salt may be used in place of salt. For a richer sauce increase the butter to 3 tbsp. and then stir a little of the sauce into a beaten egg yolk, return it to rest of cooked mixture. Keep covered until used to prevent scum forming on top.

Leaving Today

Chosen as one of Canada's 16 representatives for this year's Commonwealth Youth Movement Quest is 19-year-old Arla Smalley daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smalley, 1650 Sheridan Avenue. The only person chosen from the Island, Miss Smalley took teacher training at Victoria College, now has a class at Quadra Elementary School. She leaves Victoria today to join other Canadian representatives who will sail on the Empress of Britain for a two-month tour of England and France. She returns to the city Sept. 1. ## Native Women Batter Buses At Durban Stop DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Native women standing quietly at a bus stop suddenly pulled rocks and clubs from their clothing Thursday and battered three city buses before the eyes of surprised police.

The women broke every window and banged huge dents in the three vehicles before police could stop them. Twenty-three were arrested.

It was the latest incident in a week of violence that began last Thursday when an army of native women attacked municipal beer halls in protest against a police crackdown on home-brewed beer.

For a rich little cookie to serve with a frosty summer beverage, we think you will like these:

SUGAR COOKIE

Cream 1 cup butter with 1 cup fine granulated sugar until light and fluffy. Add 2 beaten eggs and beat well. Add 1/4 tsp. each vanilla and almond flavoring or the flavoring you like best. Sift 2 1/2 cups pastry flour with 1 tsp. baking soda, 1 tsp. cream of tartar and 1/4 tsp. salt. Add to creamed mixture and blend thoroughly. Chill 1 hour.

Roll out—not too thin—on lightly floured pastry cloth and cut out with fluted cookie cutter—the cartwheel size. Place on lightly greased cookie sheet and bake in mod. oven 375F. until a delicate brown—about 8 minutes.

BUTTER TARTS

Cream 1/2 cup butter with 1 cup brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add 1 lightly beaten egg, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1/4 tsp. cornsyrup, 1/4 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 cup seedless raisins cut in halves and 1/2 cup broken or chopped walnuts (optional). Spoon into 2 dozen small tart pans lined with rich unbaked pastry. Bake in hot oven (400F.) until filling is set and shells nicely browned, about 20-25 minutes altogether.

BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING

Remove crusts from slices of white bread and butter each slice generously. Cut enough into cubes to make 4 full cups. Put into buttered baking dish. Beat 3 or 4 eggs and add 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla and a pinch of salt. Add 1 quart of whole milk and pour over the bread cubes. Pour over top 1/4 cup melted butter. Set dish in pan of warm water and bake in moderate oven (350F) for about 45 to 50 minutes, or until mixture is set and top a golden crusty brown.

For a fancy finish, save 2 of the egg whites and beat until almost stiff, then gradually add 4 tbsp. sugar and beat until stiff. Remove cooked pudding from oven, spread with strawberry or raspberry jam and top with the meringue. Return to slow oven (300) and continue baking for 30 minutes or until the meringue is delicately browned.

Well-washed seedless raisins may be added to the mixture to make an old-fashioned black-eyed Susan. You can use brown sugar caramelized for a butter-scotch bread pudding.

Surprise Surprise

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Ambulance driver Carl W. Mayer sped to the accident scene. He was surprised to find that the injured person was his wife.

"All I could say to her," said the driver, "was: 'Well, what are you doing here?'"

Mrs. Mayer, 36, and their son, Robert, 7, were passengers in a neighbor's car. Mayer drove his wife to hospital.

Hubby Didn't Forget

Who says husbands are remiss about anniversaries? Lt. Arthur Bullen, HMCS St. Therese, sent his charming wife these exotic flowers grown and shipped from Hawaii where he cruised with his ship recently. Occasion was the couple's sixth wedding anniversary. The couple was married in Winnipeg and has been here six years. (Colonist Photo).

Support Sought For Car Ferry

Tourist groups in Victoria and Port Angeles are forming a joint committee to discuss ways to achieve traffic support for the new car ferry Coho, due to go into all-year round service between the two ports in November.

"We must encourage all possible use of this ferry," said Sam Lane, chairman of the tourist trade group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

WITH SUMMER AHEAD, here's a reminder that the surest way to maintain your dog in peak condition is to feed him a regular diet of DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD. I say this because Dr. Ballard's is the veterinary diet that contains all the nutrients a dog needs. For variety, comes in three flavors—Chicken, Liver and Regular—all of them favorites. Yes, you'll find that feeding your dog Dr. Ballard's, every day, will pay you big dividends in assuring your pet's health... with eager, bright eyes, shiny coat and exuberant good spirits... because Dr. Ballard's is best!

"OUT OF THIS WORLD," for a scrumptious taste-treat—that's what your lucky family and friends will say to these quickly made Tutti Frutti Gems. Their secret is Borden's EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk, ideal for so many delicious cookies, candies, custards and ice creams.

STORY FROM LIFE. A lady in Vancouver writes in praise of TEMPLETON'S TRC's. She says, "I had sharp sciatic pain that kept me in misery. Walking was painful, I could scarcely lift my left leg, and had great difficulty in getting upstairs." Then, lucky lady, she discovered Templeton's TRC's and found help right away. She reports, "I had better and better relief from my pain as I continued to take TRC's, until I was able to discontinue them." Like so many others, she is eager to recommend TRC's to anyone who suffers from rheumatic, arthritic or sciatic pain. Will you heed her?

One-Piece Suit Coming Back

Scanty Bikini Out

PARIS (Reuters)—The one-piece bathing suit is the latest fashion in France.

French women, renowned individualists in the matter of dressing, have dropped the scanty bikini this season in favor of one-piece models. Jacques Heim showed only one bikini in his beachwear collection, compared with 19 last year.

MORE ALLURING

The prevailing French view is that it is more alluring to adopt a covered-up look. Heim and other Parisian couturiers are featuring sleek, one-piece lastex suit with wide shoulder straps and deep rounds or oval necklines plunging low at the back! Some models even have wide bertha collars and short capped sleeves.

Trip Costs $2,500

MEXICO CITY—Venezuelan industrialist Enrique Eraso and his wife arrived in Mexico City from Miami by taxicab. The leisurely 2,500-mile drive cost Eraso $2,500.

Sun collars and deeper seaweed shades are being shown. Broad awning stripes are popular, worked horizontally in graded widths across a purple and white satin lastex model. Madras cottons also are featured at Heim, draped symmetrically in the manner of the Hawaiian sarong.

ONE-PIECE SUIT

Tiktiner, a well-known manufacturer here, goes all out for the one-piece suit in his summer collection for French customers. But he emphasizes Bikinis in his more recent Miami collection destined for export to the United States in time for the mid-winter resort season.

The summer collection emphasizes a black and white theme. In a typical model made of striped toweling, black stripes are grouped on a white background.

Family's Tragedy Spreads

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Mike Papish of Stoney Creek, whose husband and son were among six persons killed Tuesday in a level crossing crash near Winona, learned Thursday that her mother, 63-year-old Mrs. Pearl Kotleko of Winnipeg collapsed and died on hearing of the tragedy.

GEORGE GRANT
 ... after Ontario, Scotland

He'll Be Tardy For First Class

When a Victoria physical education supervisor arrives in Scotland Aug. 17 on a one year teacher-exchange program he will celebrate his arrival by being—of all things—late for school.

George Grant, physical education supervisor for Greater Victoria school district for the past 13 years, will arrive in Scotland on the very day on which he is scheduled to take over classroom duties among a group of nine-year-olds at Monifieth, seven miles east of Dundee.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant and their three children, who reside at 2059 Newton, will leave Victoria tomorrow for Guelph, Ont., where Mr. Grant will teach physical education on behalf of the Ontario department of education summer school before going overseas. His family will accompany him to Scotland.

During his absence from Victoria his duties will be carried out by Donald Henderson, 30, a well known local athlete and teacher at Willows School.

Pounds Shed by Suggestion

Hypnosis Fights Fat

Latest Medical Tool In Battle of Bulge

This first of three articles explains the medical use of hypnosis in controlling weight. Subsequent articles will deal with a girl reporter's experience in losing weight through hypnosis under medical supervision.

By LILLIAN GENN

North American Newspaper Alliance

If you can't shrink off those extra pounds of weight, hypnosis may come to your aid.

This is the latest tool that medicine is using in the battle against a major problem, obesity. It is the popular idea that hypnosis suggestion is used only by charlatans and professional performers of by those who indulge in supernatural sciences. But the history of medicine is filled with records of its serious use.

Dr. L. B. Winkelstein of Mount Vernon, N.Y., who has used hypnosis in the field of obstetrics, has now made a study of the same technique in the control of diet. He comes up with successful results.

Dr. Winkelstein, reporting his experiments in the New York State Journal of Medicine, states that much of modern eating is based not on intrinsic need, but on habit patterns, visual appeal, demands of society, and—in a surprisingly large number of people—a need for a substitution mechanism for deep psychological stresses.

He says: "The refinement and preparation of foods with high visual appeal, along with decrease in bulk, all make for an increase in calories. On the other hand, people do less walking and exercising because of the automobile, elevator, escalator and other devices which make for easier living."

No Curative Powers at All

The purpose of the doctor's study was to see if he could reorient eating habits and thus effect a control of weight. "Hypnosis has no curative powers at all. Its main value lies in the fact that while the person is in a trance, he is more susceptible to receiving and holding suggestions."

Dr. Winkelstein attempted to determine whether or not ideas relating to the control of diet could be more deeply implanted in the hypnotic state and therefore more completely accepted and followed.

A group of 42 patients were selected for this study. Selection was made on the basis of normal histories and physical examination and the ability of the patient to enter a deep trance. The ages ranged from 16 to 25 years. All were in good health, but had weight troubles varying from 10 to 60 pounds.

Each patient was treated on an individual basis. Because of the inherent fears of the word hypnosis, this term wasn't used, but rather "subconscious suggestion," or "relaxation and suggestion." But after several sessions, most patients did accept the word "hypnosis," when they understood that it was a means of increasing and fortifying will power about their eating habits. If the patient couldn't get into a trance after two sessions, the case was eliminated.

In the beginning, suggestions for the control of diet lasted only 24 hours. But with repeated sessions, the length of time was increased. After the fourth session, most of the ideas and suggestions that were implanted lasted for several days, and even for weeks. Sessions were held twice weekly for two weeks and then once a week for eight weeks and at less frequent intervals up to 14 weeks.

Group Therapy Discarded

Group therapy was attempted at the beginning, but as there began to be rivalry between patients, adding to complications, this was discontinued. It was necessary to spend a half to three-quarters of an hour with each person. But once rapport was well established, cue phrases were used, and subsequent sessions took only 10 to 15 minutes.

Many different types of suggestions were offered during the trance period, all with the idea of breaking the patient's dietary pattern. Best results were obtained when suggestions were made along the following channels:

1. Fortifying the patient's desire to lose weight, stressing health, social and vanity angles; a reinforcement of the patient's feelings as to her own specific reason for eliminating fat. An explanation of caloric balance, together with various caloric values of foods.

2. Suggestions as to the development of proper eating habits, cutting out between-meal snacks, coffee breaks, television snacks and resisting social demands for eating.

3. Suggestions to refuse high caloric foods at meal times. Suggestions as to the actual type of diet to follow.

4. Suggestions as to the decrease or absence of hunger, the proper intestinal function and proper elimination.

5. Suggestions of poor or bad-tasting qualities of the high-caloric foods, and implanting the idea of huge mock feedings, with the idea of a continuing sense of gastric fullness.

6. An attempt to get at the psychologic drive for more food either by dream projection or direct questioning. No medicines, sedatives or outside pressures were used so that the true value of hypnosis could be learned. Changes in weight were measured and recorded weekly. The maximum weight loss was 58.5 pounds, the minimum 9.25 pounds. The six-month average for the entire group was slightly under 27 pounds. The amazing total amount of weight lost for all patients was 1,124 pounds.

Wimbledon Widow

Greeting Trigger Gunshot?

LONDON (UPI)—Neighbors of Mrs. Phyllis Gregory says one word was banned in her presence: Wimbledon.

However, one neighbor slipped, "Wimbledon weather," she said to Mrs. Gregory, as they looked up at the sun.

A few hours later, Mrs. Gregory, the widow of the man who for 25 years led the British Davis Cup tennis teams, was found seriously wounded with a gunshot in her stomach.

Wednesday night she was in hospital, in "grave" condition.

Police do not suspect foul play.

Dr. Colin Gregory, 55, collapsed and died on a Wimbledon court last January. His widow never got over it.

A neighbor told a reporter, "As Wimbledon approached we all agreed not to mention it to her."

"But that morning a neighbor remarked about 'Wimbledon weather.' It must have brought back memories about her husband's death."

'Grasping' Husband Loses 'Substance'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A city woman who married a $30-a-month Greek clerk after a whirlwind courtship, won $20,000 in property and mortgages from her husband here Wednesday.

Mr. Justice T. W. Brown termed the husband of Mrs. Edna Liaskas, 37, "grasping" and the couple's bargain "unconscionable."

Mrs. Liaskas met her husband John, 43, in Athens in 1934.

After a brief courtship they were married, but not before he persuaded her to make him appear as "a man of substance."

Mrs. Liaskas transferred to him an interest in two homes here, a Delta farm and chattel mortgages.

The couple then came to Canada. Less than a year later Liaskas deserted his wife and returned to Greece. His action to claim the mortgages was dismissed.

It's a New World for Them

The stork was too old-fashioned a method of transport for these Korean babies, among 121 waifs of American and Korean blood brought to Portland, Ore., by airliner. Their journey for adoption was arranged by an Oregon farmer turned benefactor.

Warship 'Adopts' Pair

A 13-year-old Italian girl and a 10-year-old French boy yesterday were signed on as crew members of Canada's newest destroyer-escort, HMCS Terra Nova.

Filippa Castagna and Bernard Bozec joined the ship's company through the R.C. branch of the Save the Children Fund. The fund encourages groups and individuals to "adopt" underprivileged children in many parts of the world.

Commanding officer of the Terra Nova, Cmdr. W. W. Willson, was approached on the idea recently by local fund representative Mrs. W. W. McGill.

Cmdr. Willson needed no convincing or explanation. When he was CO of HMCS Ottawa, then stationed in Halifax, the ship's company adopted a 13-year-old Greek girl who was in ill-health, and without family or funds.

When he broached the idea of joining the fund plan to his new ship's crew, they responded enthusiastically. They will be responsible for Filippa. Their captain personally will sponsor Bernard.

ANNUAL FEE

Annual "fee" for sponsoring the child under the fund is $50. Trained social workers in the 30 countries in which the fund operates supervise the spending of the money on clothing, food and medicine as needed.

Mrs. McGill yesterday invited the other RCN ships stationed here to follow Terra Nova's example.

Details can be obtained from Mrs. McGill, 3441 Mayfair, by telephoning EV 4-4803.

Scottish Group Sets Centennial Concert

Colorful program of dancing, piping and singing is planned for the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society's Scottish centennial concert to be held in Beacon Hill Park July 3.

Participants will wear costumes suited to the periods they represent, between 1859 and the present, and dances will include the quadrille, the can-can, highland dances and ballroom dancing.

Guest artists will include baritone John Dunbar, contralto Eleanor Duff, and Jerry Inglis and Ronald Chisholm on the accordion. Dancers will be from the Florence Clough school of dancing. Adeline Duncan's school of Highland dancing and members of the society. Pipers will be from the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) pipe band.

The concert will be one of the main activities during the society's 100th anniversary celebrations this year.

Inflation Hits Farmers Hardest, Senate Told

OTTAWA (CP) — Inflation hurts the farmer more than anyone else, the Senate committee on finance was told Thursday.

The Interprovincial Farm Union Council said in a brief presented to the committee that: "The economic squeeze of Canada's farmers, who have to sell their own products at deflated prices, is aggravated by the inflated costs of the goods they have to buy."

The brief presented by IFUC Chairman A. F. Gleave of Saskatoon, cited as an example the costs of a 12-foot self-propelled combine, which it said could be bought in 1946 with the proceeds of 1,983 bushels of wheat. In 1958 it took the equivalent of 5,593 bushels to buy a similar combine.

The IFUC said the farmer has "rendered yeoman service to the Canadian consumer in keeping prices to the consumer down."

It recommended that the committee's study pay particular attention to returns on invested capital, undistributed earnings, administered prices and finance charges on installment buying and the effects of these factors on the agricultural economy.

Diamond Tiara Nets Record $308,000

LONDON, (Reuters) — American jeweler Harry Winston Thursday paid a world record price of £110,000 ($308,000) for the Westminster tiara at an auction here.

The diamond tiara was part of a collection from the estate of the late Duke of Westminster which is being sold at Sotheby's, London auctioneer's, to pay death duties.

On Wednesday the late duke's The Adoration of the Magi by Rubens was sold at Sotheby's for a record auction price of £275,000.

The Westminster tiara, considered one of the finest pieces of jewelry in the world, contains large pearl-shaped stones known as the Arcot diamonds. Together they weigh 57.35 carats.

The tiara was bought in 130 seconds of bidding by London dealer Levi Cohen for Harry Winston, who has bought such fabulous jewels as the Hope diamond in the past.

The tiara, which had been the property of the Duke of Westminster's family, the Grosvenors, for 120 years, originally was owned by the rajah of Arcot.

IWA Workers Win Pay Hike And Benefits

PORTLAND (AP) — Approval of two-year contracts averaging 23 cents an hour in pay boosts and fringe benefits was announced Wednesday by the Pacific Northwest members of the International Woodworkers of America.

The agreement was 2½ cents more than the first announced over-all value because of a re-study of vacation benefits, the IWA said.

Howard Roe, secretary of the regional negotiating committee, said the contracts were approved by a substantial margin. He did not disclose the total vote.

Bermuda Negroes Call Boycott

HAMILTON, Bermuda (Reuters) — All Bermuda movie houses were closed down Tuesday night to "avoid incident" after the Negro community boycotted them in protest against segregation.

Bermuda General Theatres, which controls all the island's movie houses, said it had decided to desegregate the theatre seating when a new 1,000-seat house opens in a few months.

But it said no public announcement was made before the boycott was called by a "progressive group."

Strike Vote Expected In Cowichan

LAKE COWICHAN — A government-supervised strike vote is expected soon as the result of the 90-member Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' local 805, here rejecting a conciliation board recommendation to accept a wage increase below what the union asked.

The union asked for a 20-cent-an-hour raise. They were offered five cents an hour raise each year for the next three years.

B.C. Jail Costs Soar by Millions

NANAIMO — Attorney General Robert Bonner said that the number of persons sent to jail in B.C. in the past seven years has increased from 6,000 in 1953 to 16,900 in 1958.

Mr. Bonner told a B.C. Law Society and Canadian Bar Association convention that government expenditures in the field of law enforcement and corrections is also on the increase. (See other Law Society stories on Page 19.)

The amount spent in the province in the field of corrections amounted to $1,871,000 last year compared to $1,286,000 in 1953. General law enforcement cost the province

$1,600,000 last year compared to $850,000 in 1953; $1,097,000 was spent on juvenile correction last year. In 1953 $557,000 was spent.

Mr. Bonner said B.C. leads the rest of Canada in the field of corrections and now is the time for an uncritical approach to new lines of thought in crime and punishment.

Twelve Stretches Already Posted

Establishment of a 60-mile-an-hour speed limit on all major B.C. highways is nearly an accomplished fact, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said yesterday.

"The highways are built for 60 miles an hour and where it is safe to drive at that speed we are posting them," he said.

NEW ZONES

Twelve new speed highway zones were established this week. And new speed limit signs have been posted.

Among them on Vancouver Island are the Island Highway from Tunnel Hill on the Malahat to Parksville and the Patricia Bay Highway from Keating Cross Road to the airport. The road to Port Alberni between Coombs and Whisky Creek was established as a speed highway in April, along with two mainland stretches.

MAXIMUM SPEED

But, Mr. Gagliardi pointed out, the 60 miles an hour is not necessarily the speed to travel on these stretches but rather the maximum speed one can drive.

"We want to get away from the feeling we have to drive fast," he warned.

Premier Bennett said he was in favor of the speed highways.

"If traffic moves at a speed, right for a certain highway, that is the safest traffic," Mr. Bennett said. "It is the person who drives slowly who creates the traffic hazard."

COVINGTON, La. (UPI) — Gov. Earl Long's attorneys yesterday filed separation papers against his wife, Mrs. Blanche Revere Long, who signed papers committing him to a mental institution.

The papers asked that an attorney be appointed to represent Mrs. Long, who has fled the state.

The papers charged that Mrs. Long committed excesses, cruel treatment and outrages against the Louisiana governor "of such nature as to render their further living together insupportable."

Gov. Long has subpoenaed a "jury of doctors" from all over Louisiana to testify on his sanity at a hearing today.

Long intimated through his lawyer that if he does go free, his "jealous" wife Blanche won't be the only person to flee the state.

Lived 'Over There,' He Said

Tiny Dynamo Police Guest

City police charge office had a guest for almost 2½ hours yesterday—a three-year-old dynamo named Keith.

Keith was found on Wharf Street at 12:30 p.m., and brought to the station.

He told Sgt. Tom Bannister his name was Keith, his mother's name was "Mum," his father's name was "Dad," and he lived "over there" pointing about southeast by east.

Later he added that he had a brother named David, who went to school "over there" pointing northeast by east.

At 2:55 p.m. all questions were answered. Mrs. E. W. Fletcher, 169 Joseph, in Fairfield, telephoned to ask if they had any report of a stray youngster. It was her youngest, all right.

Keith has four brothers, but prefers to play alone. His mother still doesn't know how he made it all the way to Wharf Street. He was missed at lunch time, and his mother and brothers spent some time looking before calling police.

He'll play under close supervision for a while.

Not for Month or More

Market to Be Demolished Despite Stiff Opposition

We're Liable Alderman Points Out

Over determined opposition, city council voted yesterday to go ahead with demolition of the public market building and construction of a parking lot in its place.

But it won't be torn down immediately, perhaps not for a month or more. Before the demolition contract can be signed, council must pass a bylaw providing for the expenditure, and ratification of the bylaw will take two meetings.

Margaret Peterson, president of the Society for the Preservation of the Public Market, told council that tearing it down would be a tragedy and a fiasco.

PAINT AND VISION

With paint and vision, she said, the city could have a world-famous market which would draw tourists galore, give mothers a place to buy healthy food for their children (as opposed to "chemically grown and processed" foods) and provide beauty and an opportunity for aesthetic expression.

Miss Peterson said a revitalized market should bring the city a net income of $12,000 a year.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow asked if Miss Peterson was a city taxpayer.

AN ARTIST

No, she said, she was an artist, and an artist was a holy man or holy woman and not supposed to have money.

"I'm sorry," said Ald. Edgelow, "I didn't want to embarrass you."

"I'm not embarrassed. I'm proud of it. Now sit down and I'll tell you more!" Miss Peterson told him.

Ald. Edgelow led off the council debate, holding that council should be guided by the advice of the fire marshal who found the building a fire hazard and the city engineer and his department who found it unsafe.

HORRIBLE ERROR

Either council would have to go along with that advice, he said, or "we have made one horrible error in moving the fire department."

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot, who later voted with Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. Elmer McEwen against going ahead with demolition, proposed letting the voters decide next December whether the building should be left standing and $56,000 spent on it to put it in shape for occupancy as a public market.

COLLECTIVELY LIABLE

Ald. Austin Curtis said council had been advised by the city engineer the building was unsafe, and "we are all individually and collectively liable if anything happens now. I don't wish to accept that responsibility."

"I can't see how council can pull it down when we have a letter from an outside firm stating that it is structurally strong," said Ald. Mooney. (He referred to a letter from Elliott Totty, former assistant chief architect for the provincial government, to a real estate firm which wanted a lease on the firehall for a client.)

WHY SUCH A HURRY?

"Why is there such a hurry?" he demanded. "Is something being covered up?"

Mayor Scourrah had indicated the property might be sold, he said, and he wondered if something was happening that council did not know about.

Fluoride Vote Set

Fluoridation

Drive Fate Today

Decision on whether to go ahead with an information program aimed at explaining advantages of fluoridation of the Greater Victoria water supply is likely to be made at a meeting today of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce public affairs committee.

The committee is expected to pass a resolution urging chamber directors to authorize a public education program and an official approach to Greater Victoria municipal councils.

The chamber's job would be to arouse public demand for December plebiscites in the four Victoria area municipalities and to lay benefits of fluoridation before the people.

Civic Welcome to Queen

Just Brass—No Time For People

Royal visit arrangements made above the civic level won't allow time for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to talk to people at the civic welcome July 17 at Beacon Hill, Ald. Austin Curtis said yesterday.

Only the mayor and reeves will be presented in the 10-minute ceremony.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot had suggested that good citizens chosen by a centennial committee last year should be presented, and asked if accommodation had been provided for war veterans to line up so the Queen could inspect them.

Ald. Curtis, chairman of the civic royal visit committee, said the committee had been informed by the deputy provincial secretary that it was concerned with only two occasions: the civic reception and the Queen's visit to youth groups at Clover Point.

In the 10 minutes allotted to the civic ceremony, he said, it would be impossible for Her Majesty to stop and talk to anyone.

The committee had invited all war veterans attending the ceremony to wear their medals, and they would be given a prominent place so they could be seen.

LITTLE WORRIED Special accommodation was being provided for 500 senior citizens, but, Ald. Curtis said, he was a little worried about how they were going to get to it, with automobile transportation cut off in the area.

Ald. Proudfoot saw some hope, however, in reports that the Queen had been ignoring protocol.

If aldermen were going to run over to the Beacon Hill soccer field for the ensuing military ceremonies—"I hope you hold your wives' hands"—perhaps it could be arranged that the Queen would stop and talk to people for a few minutes while they were running.

Ald. Proudfoot saw some hope, however, in reports that the Queen had been ignoring protocol.

If aldermen were going to run over to the Beacon Hill soccer field for the ensuing military ceremonies—"I hope you hold your wives' hands"—perhaps it could be arranged that the Queen would stop and talk to people for a few minutes while they were running.

"This means a little study," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said. "It seems from what I have read to be a good idea, but a lot of people feel the water already has all the taste taken out of it."

"All we are doing is voting to put it to the people," Ald. M. H. Mooney assured him.

"We are endorsing fluoridation if we vote for the recommendation," Ald. Elmer McEwen held.

"No, we're not," said Ald. Edgelow, and Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell added, "No, no."

Ald. McEwen proposed referring the matter to the termunicipal committee, but Ald. Austin Curtis said city council could always change its mind if other municipalities in Greater Victoria were not in favor of referendums.

As far as fluoridation was concerned, that ended the debate, because the brief interval before the vote was occupied with an argument between Acting Mayor Dowell and Ald. McEwen that sent the alderman stalking toward the door.

Ald. McEwen tried to say something more about fluoridation but was interrupted by other aldermen and then asked by the acting mayor to get to the point.

In that case, if he wasn't going to be allowed to say what he had to say, he might as well withdraw from council, said Ald. McEwen.

He headed for the door, but was intercepted by Ald. Edgelow and persuaded to return to his seat.

The acting mayor and Ald. D. J. Proudfoot later apologized for any seeming rudeness.

Summons 'Sanity' Panel Long Giving Up 'Jealous' Wife

COVINGTON, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl Long's attorneys yesterday filed separation papers against his wife, Mrs. Blanche Revere Long, who signed papers committing him to a mental institution.

The papers asked that an attorney be appointed to represent Mrs. Long, who has fled the state.

The papers charged that Mrs. Long committed excesses, cruel treatment and outrages against the Louisiana governor "of such nature as to render their further living together insupportable."

Gov. Long has subpoenaed a "jury of doctors" from all over Louisiana to testify on his sanity at a hearing today. Long intimated through his lawyer that if he does go free, his "jealous" wife Blanche won't be the only person to flee the state.
